Action committee to meet with Dept. of Transport

The Sturgeon Action Committee is continuing its efforts to have the City of St. Albert develop a complete overall plan for the highway area before any further development proceeds along Highway 2, and their next step is a meeting arranged with MLA Jamison and the Provincial Department of Transport. "We have been informed by Mr. Leclair of the Department" and Bob Heit, spokesman for the group, "that if safety is a problem the Department must look at it."

Safety is a major concern of the Action Committee, and Mr. Heit pointed out that several people have been killed, and also that in some areas the road is so close to the homes that cars have come through fences. The continual flow of kids crossing the highway for sport facilities, library, schools, etcetera is a particular worry he added, and I think we may have to look at one pedway at least.

The group has an architect working with them who is spending time to show how highway development could be done - and envisioning it 10 years down the road. Plans are taking into account aesthetics, noise control, possibility of a fast bus lane, which has worked well in some cities, sidewalks. We would be ready for compromising our plans and ideas, said Mr. Heit - but not on safety. On the matter of rapid bus lanes he noted that the city's Grimble Report on transportation mentions such lanes as a incentive to encourage people to use bus service.

Right now we have four lanes and half a bus lane.

The Action group wants to look at a number of alternatives for developing the road such as a four-lane with bus lane and turn-off lane, or perhaps only four lanes and a median. The group does not agree with a six-lane highway dividing the city and maintains that there should.

Board unsure of joint use cost sharing

Trustees of the St. Albert Public School District decided to study the matter of cost sharing of recreational facilities a little further before making any decision on a city proposal to share the cost of developing a sports field in the area between W.D. Cuts school and Bertha Kennedy school. The Protestant District would also be involved in the plan.

In the past the city has dealt with the Board's unilaterally on the installation of equipment on school property. The city's end of the deal was usually maintenance although they have installed some equipment during the past two years. The proposal (above) would involve the two districts sharing the costs for equipment not entirely on their property and this fact appeared to trouble some members of the Catholic Board.

Trustee Ken Porter felt the Province and the City should bear the costs. He wondered if the city wasn't merely trying to have the schools pay two-thirds of the city's share and warned other Board members that they should look closely at any cost sharing agreement. Please Turn to Page 5

Funeral home proposal prompts MPC discussion

A proposal for a funeral home in St. Albert prompted a discussion on the merits of long term planning and land use "commonality" at Tuesday night's meeting of the Municipal Planning Commission.

The subject arose when Mr. W. J. Connelly appeared before the commission to answer the MPC's questions concerning his company's proposals for a funeral home. The proposal called for the funeral home to be located on the northeast corner of the intersection of McKenney Avenue and Highway 2.

Mr. Connelly explained that the funeral business, with its processions of cars, required a location near or adjacent to a major artery. He stated that when preparing to enter the highway, there was sufficient room on the parcel for the procession to "stack up" while still on the property. The location at McKenney would also be advantageous, he said, as people from Morinville and other municipalities in Sturgeon could use his facilities without entering the residential or downtown part of the city.

However, City Engineer Don Corrigan had some news for Mr. Connelly, in the form of an announcement. Please Turn to Page 2

Terms of business board operation okayed

St. Albert is to have a new Business Development Board and the terms of reference for the Board have been accepted by council's committee of the whole. The motion to include the terms was made at Monday night's committee of the whole meeting by Ald. Barry Breadner. The bylaw to govern the body has not yet been ratified.

The Board would report to council on a regular basis and will have several res-possibilities. It would assist in the formation of a business development program, and once that program is instituted, the board would monitor its progress, recommending any appropriate changes. It would also be empowered to advise council on the impact of civic policies and to recommend changes in those policies, in order to encourage the city's economic development. The board would be concerned with Please Turn to Page 2

City Hall in 'space race'?

The swelling population of the City of St. Albert has resulted in problems at the city's municipal building. Built in the early 1960's, the building was constructed to serve a population of approximately 6,000 people. With the current population running at over 27,000, the facility is inadequate to accommodate the growing numbers of employees. Since the original construction, the library and a portable meeting area were added, as well as a 1,600 square foot addition. However, this has proved insufficient to handle present demands.

To add to the overcrowding, new departments are planned to handle personnel, business development and legal matters, which will make further demands.

The city has already begun to alleviate the situation by accommodating some departments in rented quarters. Two years ago, the Recreation and Cultural Services Department (now Community Services) was moved to a new location on Muir Drive. In a further expansion, the City Assessment Section will be relocated as of October 1 in offices in the Sturgeon Dental Clinic, on Perron Street.

In discussing the problem, Ald. Thronson said the relocation of the two departments was not necessarily in the city's interest.

"We have to come to grips shortly with a city hall" he said. "We have used every nook and cranny and department needs are still expanding."

that there would be a median on McKenney as well as on the highway, which would prevent the access Mr. Connelly had planned. As the road is part of the Arterial Access Program, the city is not allowed to put a median break at that spot. Some discussion of the viability of a service road ensued.

Mr. Corrigan did point out that the next lot, which is on the southeast corner of the intersection, would be accessible from McKenney Avenue. Also suggested was property east of the hospital. Mr. Connelly said that that area had been where he had originally planned to locate, but had been eliminated by the city's plan to keep that land as an institutional area. Mr. Byron remarked that that area had drawbacks anyway, as the owners of the land were concerned that a cemetery, a hospital and a funeral home would be "a little too much cradle to grave."

In considering the proposal, MPC Chairman Barry Breadner said it was essential that the commission first consider the appropriateness of the land use. The land in question is presently designated as a Special Study Area.

Planning Director Wayne Gordon said his department would have a study prepared on land use alternatives for the area in two months' time.

However, some members of the commission felt more could be done before that time.

"If a funeral home doesn't fit a commercial designation, what does?" queried Mr. Byron, having ascertained the land would bear some kind of commercial zoning. "Unless there is some reason it would be incompatible I would like to be able to give Mr. Connelly some encouragement."

Mr. Breadner also commented that the city needs such a facility.

Mr. Gordon replied that he was "concerned about setting the time for an area that size without knowing how it's going to go. We have to have a semblance of land use commonality."

Mr. Byron then moved that the MPC would agree that a highway location would be acceptable for a funeral home.

Mr. Byron's motion carried. He then moved that land use proposals for lands with unresolved use around the McKenney Avenue - Highway 2 intersection be brought to the MPC. That motion also carried.

extent and the quality of that development. In addition, the board would act as voice for local businesses, expressing their concerns when necessary.

The promotion of the city as an industrial and commercial location would be a part of the board's duties, and where possible, would enlist the support of the public and the business community toward this end. It would provide council with access to knowledge and expertise regarding economic affairs, industrial and commercial development and the marketing of commercial and industrial land that exists in the private sector of the city.

In situations where prospective firms require confirmation of public support for economic development and their particular project, the board would act as a civic representative. They would also advise on specific requests to the board by council.

It is also proposed that a Business Development Officer be appointed.

Check stop coming

Area residents who have failed to keep their vehicles in proper working order are warned that the St. Albert Highway Patrol will be setting up a check stop program October 1.

Motorists who are stopped and found to have faulty equipment on their vehicles (i.e. tail lights, mufflers, etc.) will be issued warning tickets. The tickets allow the driver a week to complete necessary repairs before he or she must present the vehicle to the RCMP office in St. Albert for inspection.

Failure to report will result in a summons being issued.

Jamison will contest P.C. nomination

In confirming yesterday that he will definitely be seeking the Progressive Conservative nomination at the November 16th convention, Ernie Jamison noted that this will be the last time that the St. Albert constituency will include both the city and the adjoining rural district which is roughly bounded by the MD of Sturgeon.

The independent boundaries commission ruled in 1976 against the City of St. Albert having its own seat, he said, but in 1983 St. Albert will qualify.

"Meanwhile it is a particularly heavy constituency," said Mr. Jamison, "and I honestly believe that my experience equips me to serve it best as MLA. It takes a long time, he said, and a lot of ground work, to learn the thinking of people in your constituency, and also to get to know the many people in all government departments, so that you can put the positions of both urban and rural constituents in focus for them."

Ernie also stated that he is not one who downgrades the role of the MLA. "I feel that it is extremely important in the present government's structure. Both in the decision-making process, through what is undoubtedly the most open caucus in Canada - and in the role of helping people with their problems. The most frequent complaint of cabinet ministers is that they do not have enough time from administrative duties to spend in their constituencies."

He admitted that his own interests lie less in administration and more in the problems people face in dealing with governments. "In fact," said Mr. Jamison,

ERNIE JAMISON

"I sometimes think we are becoming a race of administrators - and the ever increasing costs of administration I find alarming."

Mr. Jamison feels people are needed in government to keep the views of ordinary working people up front. "I work hard at that - including presenting the views of farmers and of small businessmen, of whom I am one." (Ernie is the owner of the St. Albert Gazette). He added that he believes the role of big business, with its capacity to generate capital and create jobs is also essential to a healthy economy based on free enterprise. Part of my job had been meeting with people involved in big business and listening to their concerns about government policy, he added.

Asked about his opposition, Mr. Jamison said both former mayor, Ray Gibbon and former alderman Myrna Fyfe had given service to municipal government in St. Albert. "I do not underestimate them - and I will have to work hard for the nomination - I am prepared for that."

Mr. Jamison said he did not make promises in campaigns, except to promise hard work and to be completely honest and direct in dealing with people.

"I believe in balanced budgets at all levels of government, and that the enormous growth in so-called 'social' services must be controlled. If governments do not take the lead, inflation will continue its spiral, the dollar will continue its slide, and the end of that role is serious depression and unemployment."

"I am known in this government as a right winger," concluded Mr. Jamison, "and I make no apology for that."

Two killed on Trail

Two St. Albert residents were killed September 6 when the vehicle they were riding in was involved in a collision with a gravel truck at the intersection of 137 Avenue and St. Albert Trail. The driver of a third vehicle also involved in the accident escaped injury.

Dead are Carolina Diaz (57) and her daughter Delia Perez (33). The driver of the vehicle Parada Perez (34) and the two Perez children, Fabian (5) and George (4) were injured in the accident and taken to the Royal Alexandra where their injuries are not considered serious.

Charges are being considered against the driver of the gravel truck, Gilbert Engbretson (39) of Slave Lake, pending further investigation.

'Money bags'

Some customers thought the staff at the Bank of Montreal had fashioned a miniature of their boss - "Bennet the Money Man." However the attractive stuffed money bags are part of the current campaign promoting savings accounts. Later they will go to a charitable organization.

Explosion, fire follows crash

Rogers Esso was the scene of a near 'Bullet' (the Steve McQueen flick) style garage fire Sunday evening.

At approximately 9 p.m. a 1975 Chevrolet car driven by Yvonne Margaret Wilkinson of St. Albert went out of control while southbound on the St. Albert Trail and struck the gas pumps at the service station.

The pumps caught fire following an explosion and the St. Albert Fire Department was called to the scene where they extinguished the 30 foot blaze. Mrs. Wilkinson's car, which had come to rest on the pump island was heavily damaged by fire and collision and everything else on the island was completely destroyed. She was treated at the Sturgeon General Hospital for minor injuries and released.

No estimate on damage has yet been compiled although the pumps are expected to be repaired by sometime today.

Mrs. Wilkinson will appear in Provincial Court September 27 charged with impaired driving.

CGIT begins new year

The C.G.I.T. girls and their leaders are looking forward to their third year at St. Albert United Church.

This group of girls 12 - 17 years old plan and carry out their program around their fourfold purpose: As a Canadian Girl In Training, under the leadership of Jesus, it is my purpose to cherish health, seek truth, know God and serve others, and then with His help become the girl that God would have me be.

Two highlights of the year are the Christmas Vesper Service and Camp. Other areas include: crafts, sports, singing, human relationship, drug information, hygiene, visiting shut-ins at their homes and the Youville Home; and having exchange evenings with other CGIT groups.

Girls and leaders work together in small groups for fun and fellowship. The group is interdenominational and we would welcome new members.

Registration night is Tuesday, September 19 at 7:15 p.m. An interesting evening is planned to give you a sneak preview of what C.G.I.T. is like and how it has progressed through the years. Parents are required to attend registration. Refreshments will be provided.

The St. Albert Lions Club held a barbecue Sunday and drew a good turnout for the beef and bean supper.

Trailer, camp park discussed

Overnight accommodation for trailers and campers is scarce in the St. Albert area, and the Chamber of Commerce wants to eliminate this shortage. At last Tuesday's meeting of council, Chamber member Ray Gibbon told council that the Chamber had consulted with the Midnight Twilight Tourist Association and had ascertained that there is a great demand for this kind of facility here. He wished to know if the city would be interested in working with the Chamber on such a project.

Ald. Rod Thordson said he had heard from many people that a trailer and camper park would be useful and said he would be "tremendously interested" in such an idea.

Mr. Gibbon stated that the Chamber could tackle the project as it had "some dollars and a lot of expertise." He pointed out that the 1979 Alberta Summer Games are going to create a need for this kind of accommodation. He asked the city to advise the Chamber as to the type of facility they would find appropriate, and regarding the standards of services which the city would require.

It was decided that the matter should be referred to the River Valley Parkway Study committee for further investigation.

Mr. Gibbon stated at the meeting that it would be logical that the city should run such a park after it was completed.

Historical Society holds lecture series

The St. Albert Historical Society, in co-operation with the Continuing Education Council, will be holding a lecture series of local interest beginning October 3 and running for eight weeks.

Entitled "Missions Impossible?", one series will focus on the interaction between fur traders, Indians and missionaries and will include resource people from the University of Alberta and The Provincial Museum. Dr. G. M. Hutchinson and Dr. E. Druin, OMI will concentrate on Rev. Rundle and the Oblate missionaries and Dr. Anne Anderson, noted free educator who grew up in St.

Albert will speak on early life here.

Those wishing to register for this lecture series can consist the St. Albert Recreation and Further Education brochure for further details.

Joint use cost sharing

"Our dollars should be going to education," stressed Mr. Porter, "that is the prime use of our dollar."

Trustee Jerry Manegre concluded the discussion by saying, "We're all in favour of developing recreational facilities but, we're not sure who should be paying." He moved the matter to the Building and Sites Committee for further study.

Price of Saints practice reduced

City council's committee of the whole moved Monday night to recommend a reduction in the originally stated price for the St. Albert Saints hockey team practice time. Council will vote on the recommendation next week. The Saints had been informed previously that the practice ice fee would be $30.50 per hour. However, the club, which last year lost $8,300, said that this was a higher fee than those paid by any other group and that such a charge would be beyond their financial capability. The committee of the whole has recommended that the fee be reduced to $26.75, which is the same fee charged to any group of adult users.

A letter from the St. Albert Tennis Club also prompted a motion from the committee. The club wrote asking for a response to their request for the addition of two more courts, preferably at the Mission court site. The matter was given consideration under 1978 budget discussions, but Ald. Barry Breadner said it had been decided not to go ahead with such a project at that time. Ald. Shields moved that the question of sports facilities such as the tennis courts be referred to the Summer Games Committee Board of Directors for assessment of facilities for the Games and community use, with subsequent recommendations to council. The motion carried.

SWIM EXECUTIVE PRAISED

The executive of the St. Albert Sailfish Swim team deserve a word of appreciation from the young swimmers on the team, and their parents.

After hosting two successful invitational swim meets at the Grosvenor Park Pool in June and July, this group organized and hosted both the "B" club Regional and Provincial meets at the Bonnie Doon pool just to illustrate the amount of work involved, some 700 swimmers from all over Alberta took part in the Provincial meet, August 26 and 27.

In addition, they assisted coaches Debbie and Larry Wilson with arrangements for out of town weekend swim meets.

A hearty thank you to the following executive members: Past President: Larry Heron; President: Fred Pass; Vice President: Norm Lynch; Treasurer: Bob Preece; Secretary: Ann Kelly; Officials and Records: Joan Hogg; Ways and Means: Loreen Morling and Members at Large: Joanne Tessier and Pat Fry.

You did a superb job!

SMOKEHOUSE NOSTALGIA

I read on "The Home Front" about nitrites used in meats on Wednesday, September 6 (page 15). If they are waiting to "phase out" the use of nitrite and nitrate (if?) safe and effective substitutes "become available". What are people anyway "guinea pigs?" What happened to "old time," curing habits, when bacon and hams did not develop botulism dangers?

The natural color and taste was "par-excellent" and the "keeping" qualities of the products were above reproach.

All this was done with no real refrigeration and without one bit of loss of the meat in any way. No expensive chemicals were required in the processes. No wonder the body develops so many allergies, tumors, cancers nowadays.

You just try to leave bacon in a cool place nowadays? I don't mean the freezer either - just the fridge or any cool area. Nitrites phooey! The darned stuff gets rotten in only a few days!

When they cured bacon the old way, during the pre-war years of 20's and 30's, you could hang that bacon in a cool cellar, wrapped in a cheese cloth and use it for weeks.

Plain old salt, cures any botulism problems (if smoking takes place properly). Salt and brown sugar, brine, then the smokehouse were sufficient then.

Take your darned fancy chemicals and chuck them. We want healthy better keeping qualities to our hams and bacons and sausages. After all it's our money that pays for it, and also our health.

AIRPORT BROCHURE TELLS TALES

"Progress" as the tortoise said "is a wonderful thing" wonderful - perhaps. Welcome - not always. Local weekend flyers will recall when a Sunday morning sortie involved firing up the old fleet canuck, speaking briefly with the Edmonton controller and going up for a look around Edmonton or, if adventure burned brightly within, embarking on a long cross country trip, maybe even as far as Wetaskiwin.

Excitement ran to fever pitch when the International Airport opened for traffic and a flying visit for a morning coffee involved contacting two controllers. The international controllers welcomed the light aircraft with open arms. They yearned for practise and heaven knows little other business came their way in the early days.

Their offer of instrument approaches were graciously declined by Piper Cub drivers sporting a minimum of instrumentation. Many a startled young pilot on final approach, peered down to make sure the aircraft's wheels were still with him after the controller's gentle reminder of "gear down and locked." The usual reply from pilots was "gear down and welded."

Progress, however, over the intervening years, has modified procedure beyond comprehension. The increased volume of high speed traffic is squeezing the light aircraft out of the Municipal Airport, and, probably, quite rightly so. Controllers there are to be complimented on the way they handle the heterogeneous gaggles of machinery that present themselves for direction.

Fortunately, salvation is at hand in the form of the new Satellite Airport at Villeneuve, some thirty kilometres northwest of Edmonton.

As readers of the Transport Canada brochure entitled "Villeneuve Satellite Airport," will see this is a modern facility boasting, to quote therefrom, flying clubs, two runways, general aviation, aviation sales and maintenance (full service), "T" hangars (electricity only), general use (no service), etc. The brochure, a two colour, multi-run leaflet folder, is dated May, 1978 and must have cost a considerable sum of money.

Unfortunately, and here comes the crunch, it simply isn't true.

One excellent runway is in use. The second, in spite of continued unmerciful pounding by compacting equipment, is unusable. There is only one flying club hangar under construction (progress appears to be at the same rate as aforementioned tortoise) and one hangar where aircraft servicing is available.

There are no "T" hangars, no sales and nowhere in the brochure does it suggest these services are 'planned' or 'future.'

Fuel and oil are not available, although pumps and tanks were installed some time ago.

Probably the worst feature of all occurs after a rainstorm - the mud which a would-be-flyer has to brave in order to reach his (or her) aircraft. The unavoidable last few that must be navigated on foot result in attached balls of mud that would surely overgross most aircraft.

The point that must be made is that if a non-local pilot were to plan a landing at Villeneuve on the basis of this brochure, the resulting disappointment would discourage a second visit for a long time to come.

Finally, if a transient were to arrive on a bright, sunny day, with the ground firm underfoot, he should bring his knitting to while away the time whilst waiting for transport off the airport. For unless his arrival is timed to scrounge a ride from a home-bound controller, the alternative is to phone for a taxi, probably from St. Albert, which would involve a ride along the most atrocious road in North America. But that is another story.

Council sets hearing dates

At its meeting last Tuesday, city council set a date for a public hearing on a proposed bylaw to amend the General Plan. Included in the planned amendments is the redesignation of Woodlands, Phase One, Stage One from Neighborhood Residential to Neighborhood Residential, Education and Recreation-Natural Areas. The Pineview Subdivision, Stage One, is to be redesignated from Neighborhood Residential to Neighborhood Residential, General Commercial and Recreation/Natural Areas. A lot at 23 Akins Drive is to be redesignated from a Special Study Area to General Commercial, and the Akinsdale Subdivision Stage Six is to be redesignated from Neighborhood Residential to Neighborhood Residential and Recreation/Natural Areas. Another redesignation would have 260 St. Albert Road redesignated from Institutional to General Commercial, and 76 Grosvenor Boulevard would be changed from Special Study Area to General Commercial. Stage One of the Riel Industrial Park would go from Special Study Area to Light Industrial and Recreation/Natural Areas. The changes to be made to designations of 23 Akins Drive and 76 Grosvenor Boulevard are the result of errors made in the drawing of the General Plan. The hearing will be held

September 18 at 7:45 p.m.

Council also set the date for a public hearing on a bylaw to amend the zoning of Green Grove from Single Family Residential to Commercial. The hearing will be held October 2 at 7:45.

A notice of motion proposed by Ald. Breadner was approved. The motion calls for a letter to be written to each church board in St. Albert inviting them to send a representative to attend a meeting with a committee of council to discuss the provision of sites for new church buildings. Council also approved a motion proposing that the committee consist of Mayor Ronald Harvey, and Aldermen Breadner and Ayotte.

Council approved a resolution appointing the Bank of Montreal as the banker of the City of St. Albert, effective November 1 and terminating October 31, 1980.

Following an appeal by the executive of the St. Albert Saints Hockey team, council moved to set the rates charged for the teams use of the arena. Exhibition games will cost the team $200 each this year, while playoffs will cost $300. A motion to set the practice rate at $20 per hour was tabled.

Games Committee selects location for new track

The 1979 Alberta Summer Games in St. Albert moved closer to becoming reality Monday night when the Games Committee Board of Directors reported to council on track facilities. Several members of council had high praise for the speed with which the board had completed their investigation and report.

Board Chairman Dick Fowler said the city's "largest vacuum" was in the area of track facilities, and pointed out that track events are one of the prime events of the Games. To ascertain what would be needed in this area, the Sports Director, Jack Patterson, had studied available locations and consulted with Amalgamated Recreation Engineers and Network Associates Ltd. (ARENA). The firm which specializes in sports facilities prepared a study of the locations and made a proposal for the city's requirements.

After examining sites at St. Albert High, Salisbury Park and Lorne Akins School, both the Games Committee and ARENA agreed that the five acres site between Sir Alexander Mackenzie school and Vincent Maloney would be more suitable. ARENA proposed that a 400 meter eight-lane track with room for seven field events be constructed. The firm suggested the track be constructed of a superior synthetic surface with an asphalt base course. It also recommended that the infield be an all-sand grass system playing field complete with automatic irrigation. The ARENA proposal would cost $447,500.

The committee, after examining the ARENA proposal has suggested modifications that would reduce the cost considerably.

Board Vice-Chairman Lorne Wood told the council the ARENA facility would be the "optimum" facility, but the committee felt it was "financially out of reach." To pare down the cost, while maintaining quality, the committee recommends that the track be constructed with a rubber asphalt surface and color coating. The infield would remain as it is with some upgrading to facilitate the field games. The irrigation system would be eliminated. The committee's proposal would cost $211,500.

Mr. Wood said their proposal would allow for future improvements to the track surface, as a superior synthetic could be put on the asphalt base, whereas it could not be added to a cinder or shale track, which are the other alternatives.

Regarding the site, Mr. Wood said the Sir Winston Churchill Avenue site was preferable as it was close to six schools; it was city-owned; it was on Churchill Avenue which provides good access, and it would be near the proposed site for the Athletes Village. In addition some preliminary site work, such as grading had already been done at this location, eliminating the possibility of excavation or filling and thus saving time.

CONSTRUCTION TAKES FOUR MONTHS

The committee stated that the construction would take four months, and in order to have the facility completed in time for the Games, a detailed engineering study would have to be carried out to establish costs. Preliminary construction would begin this fall.

In response to questioning from council members, Sports Director Jack Patterson said that the committee had obtained the names of engineering firms who had built tracks in Edmonton. The committee would be able to consult with them if necessary.

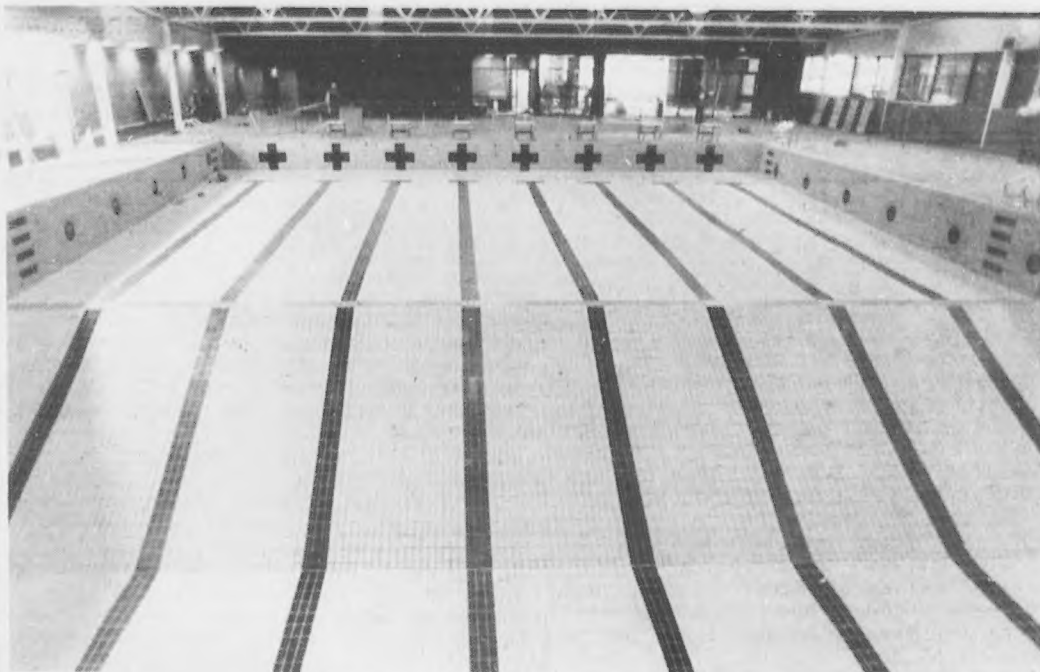

In answer to a question regarding spectator seating, Mr. Patterson said that the ARENA proposal had suggested permanent seating as a future project. He suggested that the city look at portable seating for the Games. The committee also referred to a proposal presented to council last year by the Lions Club. The Lions have suggested they construct a change-storage facility on the new track site. Mr. Fowler said that council had not indicated to the club as to whether their idea was acceptable and commented that "the Lions think nobody from the city is interested."

Ald. Bill Shields said he recalled the proposal and said he was sure everyone on council was interested. Ald. Breadner asked if such a facility would fill a need at the Games and stated that as the proponent of the idea was John Kaminsky, principal of Vincent J. Maloney school, he thought the need for the facility might have come from the surrounding schools.

Ald. Thronson said that council had not been asked to participate at the time the idea was presented, but remarked "We're willing to take anything that is valuable."

After some discussion later in the meeting, it was moved by Ald. Breadner that a consultant be retained on the approval of council to complete the engineering study. The outside assistance is necessary as the city engineers do not have the facilities for soil testing and other work involved in such a study. Mr. Breadner also moved that preparations be made to proceed with preliminary construction before freeze-up. Both motions carried.

Board Chairman Dick Fowler emphasized throughout the meeting that the committee would not be responsible for the construction of capital facilities such as the track. The supervision of construction will be the city's responsibility, with the committee acting in an advisory capacity only.

Six months late . . . and waiting

The Fountain Park Recreation Centre, originally to open in February 1978, is still approximately three weeks from completion. A month ago the Gazette ran a photo of the new pool and was told the pool should be open in the first week of September. Now, "if things go well," according to Aquatic Supervisor Brian Sullivan, it will be one week before water goes into the pool and another two weeks after that to iron out the bugs before swim teams can look forward to using their new pool. It will be November before the public is invited to try the new facility. The major problem at this time is some broken water inlet lines - important components in the water circulation system.

November 5 set for official pool opening

Despite the fact that the pool in the Fountain Park Recreation Centre has endured a deluge of technical problems and delays, it looks as if swimmers might be able to 'take the plunge' in early November. At Monday night's meeting of council, Ald. Barry Breadner moved that the centre's official opening be held November 7. The motion carried. The pool will be open to limited use by teams and other specific groups for a month prior to that date, giving the contractors and architects a period in which to watch their creation in use, and see if there are any problems which need attention.

Mr. Don McCoy, of Phillips Barrett, the architectural firm on the project, told members of council's committee of the whole that there had been "quite a few problems" including late steel shipments and bad weather. However, the pool still would have been in operation by late spring had there not been further difficulties. When the water was turned on to fill the pool, said Mr. McCoy, it came out of the wrong place. Excavation was done, revealing many small leaks in the pipes. The leaks were the result of cracking, due to frozen pipes. Water had been left in the pipes over the winter, he said.

"The contractor almost gave up," commented Mr. McCoy.

The pipes are apparently difficult to test which complicated the problem. The leaks were of a size needing a magnifying glass to locate them, said Mr. McCoy.

In response to questions from council, Mr. McCoy said this did not indicate that there would be similar problems in the future. Mr. Breadner inquired as to whether the tunnel which is used to gain access to the pipes would be filled in. Mr. McCoy said the contractor wished to do this, but the architectural firm felt the trench should be cribbed and left open. He commented that because the contractor had placed the pipes under the concrete slab, and the architectural firm wanted them elsewhere, the firm had paid $5,000 out of its own pocket to have them moved. Because of this and other things, the architectural firm had not made any money on the project. "We've spent more money than you've paid us!" said the architect ruefully. The costs related to the leakage are borne by the contractor.

Mr. McCoy said that there was a one-year guarantee on the facility, and suggested that the city close the pool briefly one year from now, after the summer season. At that time, the builders and architects will inspect the entire operation to assess any problems, as well as checking out difficulties, if any, reported by the pool's management. In addition thorough inspections will be done prior to the pool's opening.

Action Committee to meet

n't be any portion of the road within one foot of residential property lines as at present. Perhaps moving the road about 25 to 40 feet to the west for a distance about 1500 - 2000 feet where it abuts the residential lands would be a solution, and then greening the portion on the east side.

Some improvements we may be able to get - and some we may not, said Mr. Heit. BUT - if the city develops the land, then we can never get such improvements.

So we should all sit down together and decide on the best plan, including the best use of the natural drainage ravine on the west side of the highway.

Summing up Mr. Heit said the citizens group wants two things: improvements to the highway as a major route in the city as seen by the city, its people and the province - BEFORE we close any options and including an environmental impact study on the ravine to ensure it is not denuded and will be able to properly drain the run-off and its bank is preserved.

Then plot the remaining property. Secondly the group wants to ensure that future commercial developments are compatible with neighboring residential development, by working out with the developer and the city an agreeable plan.

Following their meeting with the Department of Transport the Action Committee plans to have a further meeting with city council, before further developments close any options. The committee is hopeful that compromises can be worked out to the benefit of all, and would welcome any ideas and support from residents in any area of St. Albert.

Mission Ridge nears completion

The Mission Ridge Shopping Centre on McKenney Avenue near Lacombe Plaza is filling up quickly and John Fleming of Longson, Tammetts and Denton Real Estate, leasing agent said he is pleased with the generally good demand.

The complex houses over 50,000 square feet of retail and office rental space, with a paved, lighted parking area for 275 cars, on a 4.5 acre site which is fully landscaped all around. Alberta Grocers with an 8,000 square foot supermarket is the major tenant, located in the centre building of the two-building complex. Depending on how quickly they can get the equipment in the food store is hoping to open about October 15.

Other tenants who have leased space are a licensed sit-down restaurant, Sounds Beautiful, a stereo store, Rae's Beauty Salon, Captain Scott's Fish and Chips, Crest Drug Ltd., Harvey Agencies Ltd., a stationery store, Century 21 Bell Realty, St. Albert Broadcasting Ltd. and Dr. Larry Lesniak, dentist.

There is still prime retail space and air conditioned office space available, said Mr. Fleming, which is available on a flexible basis to meet the needs of prospective tenants.

The centre building needs some construction to complete it, and a westerly single-floor building adjoins the centre. The easterly wing is a separate building with two levels for offices up and retail or office space on the lower level.

When completed and filled Mission Ridge should serve the whole northwest area of the city quite well, Mr. Fleming commented.

Mission Ridge is owned by Woodfield Holdings Ltd., developers are Stanton Developments Ltd. and the design is by Groves Hodgson, Palenstein Architects Ltd.

Board changes position

Grade ones will bus after all

A presentation by parents of Grade One French Immersion students presently attending Grandin School in Edmonton resulted in the Catholic School Board reversing an earlier position and allowing the children to ride the bus that their older brothers and sisters were riding.

In changing its decision the Board made the case an exception to the rule in order to avoid any further requests for busing students to Edmonton schools to enter programs currently offered by District 3 in St. Albert.

The parents appearing before the Board, Bob and Cecile Heit, Archie and Marguerite Broten and Mr. Mrazek had all registered their children at Grandin school in the spring of this year and had, for various reasons, no intention of enrolling their children in St. Albert even if it meant the inconvenience of driving them to school. The Heits and Broten all felt strongly that splitting up their children (if the grade one students enrolled in St. Albert) was against the Catholic Board's and Catholic Church's commitments to strengthening the family unit. Mr. Broten pointed out the Alberta Catholic School Trustees Association has suggested establishing a 'Centre for the Family' in Alberta.

Mr. Mrazek's daughter, his only child, could be picked up by her grandmother, who lives nearby Grandin School, and stay with her until her parents could pick her up after work. She would also be able to continue her piano lessons which she takes Wednesdays right after school at Sisters of Assumption just across the street from Grandin.

All three families feared the Board was treating the matter strictly as an economic issue (the District receives a per pupil grant from the Province and a low enrollment in St. Albert's French Immersion program might mean the program here would be unaffordable to the district). In projecting this feeling Mr. Heit said, "I could possibly expect this (attitude) from my banker but not from my Catholic School Board."

Trustee Manegre told the parents that the Board did have compassion for their situations but that they also had concern for the other 42 children presently enrolled in the District's French Immersion program at the grade one level. If the Board granted the request and a snowballing effect occurred, not only would the Board suffer a financial loss but these children would also suffer if the program became no longer viable.

Mr. Heit told the Board that he had talked to two of the three other families who had children attending grade one French Immersion in St. Albert and older children attending Grandin School. Neither family intended to switch the enrollment of their grade one child if the request to have the Heit, Broten and Mzarek children bused to Grandin was granted.

Mr. Broten explained to the trustees that they were not 'pioneers' in the area of French Immersion programs and that in fact Sherwood Park, Fort Saskatchewan and Spruce Grove had initiated programs this year and Leduc would have one next year. The Edmonton program has enjoyed increasing enrollments since its inception. The point was, he explained, that French Immersion was going to continue to grow in popularity and the St. Albert Catholic School District would see its enrollments grow. It need not fear a snowballing effect caused by allowing younger members of a family to attend the same school as the older members.

The Board now had a choice to make. Board policy on receiving delegations states that the Board's decision will be deferred until the next regular meeting or a committee unless trustees voted to deal with the matter that night. Trustee Manegre's motion to do so passed without dissent and Trustee Porter moved that the Board rescind an earlier motion which denied the children the right to busing. In speaking to his motion Trustee Porter said that the children in question were registered in Grandin regardless of District 3's program and that District 3 did have sufficient numbers (42) enrolled to make the local program viable. He said he believed things must be looked at on an individual basis and that personally he did not think a snowballing effect would occur. There was a 64 passenger bus travelling to Grandin School with only 44 riders aboard.

Superintendent Bill Zielinski told Board members he couldn't support the motion to rescind but that he couldn't explain why in public because it involved personnel.

The fact that the Board appeared likely to move in camera evoked the ire of Mr. Heit who said that if there was a problem why not have it out in the open.

Trustee Manegre moved that the meeting go in camera and the public and press left the room. Following a 20 minute huddle the meeting was reopened to the public and the Board voted to rescind the motion. The Gazette learned later that the superintendent's concern was that the Board set parameters when making any motion to allow the children the right to bus in order that the District avoid a flood of requests by other students to bus to other schools in Edmonton.

And that's exactly what happened when Trustee Manegre moved to allow Grade One students presently enrolled at Grandin, who had other children from the same family enrolled at Grandin, to ride the bus. The motion passed unanimously.

Air Cadets in Review No. 533 RC(Air)C

A very busy summer has come to an end for most cadets at #533 RC(AIR)C. As well as seeing five cadets on scholarships, another 80 (approximately), attended camps at Penhold, Whitehorse and Camp Wright during the course of July and August. Word filtering back indicates interesting and enjoyable camps.

F/Sgt. Parkin, our exchange scholarship cadet, spent three weeks in Spain, most of them in a hospital having his appendix removed. It came as quite a surprise to him as well as #533. Cadet Parkin was able to rejoin his group and did, in fact, have several very worthwhile days touring the country.

WO2 D. R. Fecteau

WO2 Fecteau obtained his power wings about mid-August and has been adding to his hours ever since. After approximately 10 hours instruction, the highlight for him was his first solo, during which time a couple of circuits had to be made at Namao due to traffic in the area. Cadet Fecteau hopes to have a career as a pilot in the Canadian Armed Forces.

F/Sgt. A. L. Hymers

F/Sgt. Hymers is now proudly wearing his glider pilots wings which he obtained in Rivers, Manitoba. He is looking to more hours gliding and hopefully getting his power wings next year and eventually qualifying to be instructor or tow pilot at Rivers, in the future.

WO2 L. Rogers

WO2 Rogers was in Cold Lake on a senior leaders scholarship. Cadet Rogers thoroughly enjoyed the course and found it to be his "greatest experience in life so far." So much was taught and learned, but the most outstanding aspect was the team effort. WO2 Rogers was selected top cadet in Alberta on this scholarship.

LAC Durand attended Camp Borden on a technical training scholarship. Aside from the fact the place was "hot and dry" the course was tremendous. Cadet Durand took electronics in French, as this cadet is completely bilingual. Side trips to Niagara Falls and a canoe trip added to the interest.

Several of our cadets spent the summer working as A/Cpl. in various camps and positions. #533 also had cadets in Whitehorse on band courses, as well as working as A/Cpl. Information back indicates a really interesting and worthwhile summer.

As covered in a recent article in the Gazette, our squadron flew to the Abbotsford Air Show in a Chinook Helicopter. It proved to be the highlight of the summer for many cadets and officers alike.

Officers and staff were also kept busy over the holidays, with OC Armstrong in Cold Lake working with the senior leader scholarship cadets and M. Cady, a former #533 squadron cadet, who obtained his power wings while with us, instructing the power scholarship cadets at the Edmonton Flying Club.

#533 had a few changes over the summer, with two of our officers having to leave due to work commitments. Mr. W. Fecteau, who has been with the squadron as C1 for several years, will be coming on staff as OC and taking on training, as well as carrying on with drill teams. OC Armstrong will be on strength and helping Mr. Fecteau in his area. 2/Lt. Nord will take over supply. Capt. Martin will remain in administration, along with Lt. Maybee. Major Maybee will carry on as commanding officer of #533 RC(AIR)C.

The new chairman for our sponsoring body this year is Mr. Don Ward, who is not new to the squadron, as he has been participating in many ways over the past couple of years. Several new civilian instructors will be joining us and new classes will be added to make this an interesting and successful year once again. We would like to extend a WELCOME to all new staff members and cadets, and hope you enjoy #533.

The first regular parade will be this Thursday, September 14, 6:45 p.m. at the Community Hall. Over the past few weeks we have been issuing the new green uniforms, so our first parade should show the majority of our cadets in their new greens.

Band, sports, junior and senior drill teams are again on the agenda and starting dates will be given on parade and in this column when they come up. Tours, weekend exercises and familiarization flying are also planned. #533 Squadron is looking forward to another tremendous year in all areas.

CRITICAL PATH

to a building that communicates

When is a building ready to occupy? When it's ready to communicate. Tenants today want instant telephone service. Take, for example, such critical requirements as underground service entrances, terminal and equipment rooms, riser and distribution systems; and the related conduit, panels, closets and ducts. They have as strong a claim on your Critical Path Method deadlines as the plumbing. Avoid costly delays and post-construction alterations. The communications specialists at BICS (AGT's Building Industry Consulting Service) will be happy to discuss the integration of these facilities in your construction schedule. Include BICS in your bids. The consultation costs nothing; but the savings that result can be considerable.

Work with the BICS preplanning and scheduling service for the kind of telephone service tenants expect.

Rudolf the pocket size bear

The whole night through wind had torn at the trees and at the roof. Rain had lashed non-stop. Rudolf had been frightened by the strange sound of the thin woody tree fingers tapping and scraping against the window.

Dawn was a relief, at least you could see, but the wind furiously pushed the menacing clouds across the sky, and rain spattered into the ever widening muddy puddles. It was a yawny day, and Rudolf felt heavy eyed and dull. There was no chance of going anywhere, so he went to look out of the window.

He watched the huge feathers of spray thrown up by the cars going down the highway. He watched the rain rivers chasing each other down the window. He watched the wet tree tops tossing. He watched the racing clouds. That was all he could see. A nasty man on the radio was saying that there was going to be a lot more rain.

That was enough for Rudolf. He went off to his own little corner, pulled his pocket sized purple knitted blanket over his ears and curled up very small. His last thoughts were for the farmers who were losing their precious grain, and would the sun ever come back again.

Summer students finish work with RCMP

The St. Albert Summer Job Corps, known as "Neighbourhood Watch and Operation Identification," has officially come to a close for 1978.

The summer students involved with the program from June 26 to September 1 were: Donna Boehm 17, Beth Chetner 18, Michael Crossman 17, Wendy Greenhalgh 16, Wendy Mroz 17, Bruce Sloan 19, Colette Wooding 15, and Joanne Coulter (project leader) 19.

The group worked under Cst. Ross Gilmore, St. Albert's Crime Prevention and Community Relations co-ordinator. Summer Job Corps is a federally funded program in order to create summer jobs for students. It is closely monitored by the Solicitor General's department.

The group served many functions in the community, but its' main role was in the area of Operation Identification. This is a process where the valuables in the home are marked with the owners' drivers licence or Social Insurance numbers to aid in their recovery if they are ever lost or stolen.

A block leader system was used where one person or a street is responsible for approximately 10 homes. The students dropped the equipment (an engraver and an invisible ink marker) and literature on the program to the block leader, who in turn passed it along to the neighbors on his/her list. The students also marked the houses themselves in some areas of the city. Approximately 1,100 homes in St. Albert were marked by this system in the summer of 1978. If you are a St. Albert resident and wish to borrow the equipment to mark your valuables, you are asked to contact Cst. Gilmore at the RCMP station.

The project also involved itself in the marking of bicycles in order to enhance their recovery rate. 1,600 bicycles were marked by the students this summer and there has been a noticeable increase in the number of bicycles returned to their original owners. Again, if St. Albert residents wish to mark their bicycles, they are asked to contact Cst. Gilmore.

Community relations were an essential aspect of the students job. A display unit was set up in the Grandin Mall during the week of July 10 - 14 and on August 24 to 26. The public was able to discuss the program with the students at the mall. Posters, letters to businesses, the news media (newspapers, radio, TV), and word of mouth were used in communicating the program to the public.

The students were able to gain a valuable insight into the Criminal Justice System while working in conjunction with the RCMP. The group was given the opportunity to ride along with a member in order to see with first-hand experience how the police system works.

The group would like to extend their thanks to the Block Leaders who volunteered their time to the program, the Kiwanis Club of St. Albert who so kindly sponsored the students' jackets, and the members and staff of the St. Albert RCMP for their help in making the project the success that it was.

Acupressure workshop starts today

Shiatsu, or acupressure massage can be useful in helping one overcome general health problems, and at times, more specified severe ailments. This form of therapy utilizes finger pressure upon acupuncture points and meridians, and has been used by the family and specialist alike in the Orient, throughout the ages.

An introductory Shiatsu workshop will be held September 13 and 14 from 7 to 10 p.m. at Espace Tournesol, 11845 - 77 Street, Edmonton; walking distance from the Coliseum transit station. An intermediate Shiatsu workshop will follow on Friday, September 15 from 7 to 10 p.m. and is open to all those who have completed an introductory Shiatsu course.

The workshop will cover the theory and practice of the art of Shiatsu and is presented by the director of Edmonton's East West Centre, Ray Switzer, a student of Shizuko Yamamoto and M. Kushi.

Cost is $15 for the two day introductory session and $7.50 for the intermediate workshop. Pre-registration is required and everyone is welcome. Phone 474-7169.

Are the premises you rent still under rent control?

Yes

If the residential premises you are renting was rented in 1975 (not necessarily to the present tenant) and: The rental rate being charged now is less than the decontrol limits shown on the right.

If "YES", then here's how you can calculate the way matters should stand right now:

|   |          |
|---|----------|
| Base rent (rent last charged in 1975)   | $ _____ |
| Permitted increases under the Temporary Rent Regulation Measures Act                            |          |
| 1976      10%   | $ _____ |
| 1977      9%  | $ _____ |
| Increases granted by a Rent Regulation Officer or an Appeal Board (if an order has been issued) | $ _____ |
| Sub-Total:   | $ _____ |
| New base rent under the Rent Decontrol Act (rent legally in effect and charged in June, 1977)   | $ _____ |
| Permitted increases   |          |
| 1978      8% or $20 (Whichever is greater)   | $ _____ |
| New Total:   | $ _____ |
| current rental rate   | $ _____ |

For 1979, the permitted increase will be 8% or $20, whichever amount is greater.

Special Ed. for northern Alberta communities

Residents of at least four northern Alberta communities will have the opportunity to work with teachers in developing and presenting local school programs this fall.

Funding for the program, developed by the Department of Education, has been approved in the amount of $350,000 for each of four years by Education Minister Julian Koziak.

The communities have yet to be named, but those eligible for selection will be within the geographic areas encompassed by: Fort Vermilion School Division No. 52, High Prairie School Division No. 48, Lac La Biche School Division No. 51 and Northland School Division No. 61.

Education North, as the new project is called, is based on the premise that residents of Northern Alberta, especially those in small isolated communities, have unique educational needs which the present school programs are not satisfying. The aim of the project is to encourage close co-operation between teachers and residents in developing programs which meet the specific needs of the communities, while adhering to Department of Education guidelines.

An earlier Department of Education report examined the need for changes in what the students are taught and developed a plan for promoting local participation. Education North will carry out that plan. For example, in some northern communities there may be a need to relate skills of hunting and trapping to what is taught in schools. Now, on an experimental basis, if residents perceive a need for such a program, members of the community might co-operate in providing advice and instructional assistance.

Education North is a project of the Department of Education with the co-operation of Native Affairs, Advanced Education and Manpower, and the Northern Development Branch of Business Development and Tourism. The Minister's Advisory Committee for Education North includes six residents of Northern Alberta and one representative from each of the four departments.

Mr. Fred Dumont of High Prairie has been named coordinator of the project. Education North qualifies for joint funding under the Alberta North Agreement between the province of Alberta and the Federal

Department of Regional Economic Expansion (DREE).

Juanita Chambers is Professor Emeritus

La Faculte Saint-Jean of The University of Alberta is pleased to announce the appointment of Dr. Juanita Chambers to the position of Emeritus Professor of the Faculty. She has accepted the task of developing a professional teacher training program for the future bilingual school teachers of Western Canada.

For this purpose, Dr. Chambers will study different models of teacher training, especially those of communities where more than one language is used. She will thus be in constant communication with the educational milieu, the various francophone associations and the Franco-Albertan population in general, and with all those who have an interest in bilingual education in the province. Dr. Chambers is hoping for a good deal of participation from the public.

No stranger to the field of education, Dr. Chambers' most recent position was that of Professor in the Department of Educational Psychology at The University of Alberta. The subject of a number of articles and radio and television programs, her research has been complemented by much practical experience in education, which began in Montreal where Dr. Chambers was deeply involved in special education. After having served as head psychologist at the Mental Hygiene Institute in Montreal from 1954 to 1958, and at the Montreal Children's Hospital from 1958 to 1960, Dr. Chambers became the director of Psychological and Educational Services at Harterre Schools of Montreal (for exceptional children), until 1967 when she departed for Edmonton. Indeed, it was at the Université de Montreal that Dr. Chambers prepared her doctoral thesis "Maternal Deprivation and the Concept of Time."

Her study will lead Dr. Chambers throughout the province and the country. She will work, however, from her office at Faculte Saint-Jean where she can be contacted.

Debate workshops launched

The Alberta Debate and Speech Association will be launching the 1978-79 season with a series of three workshops for junior high school students, senior high school students, and coaches, to be held in September and October.

The students' workshops, which provide beginning debaters with the opportunity to learn the basic skills involved in tournament debate in a relaxed atmosphere, will be held at Camp He Ho Ha, Lake Isle, Alberta. The junior high workshop will take place September 22 - 24. The senior high workshop will be held October 13 - 15.

The coaches' workshop provides an excellent opportunity for those interested in organizing debate and speech clubs to learn about tournament organization, debate and speech strategies, and the role of debate and speech in the school curriculum, as well as affording the ideal opportunity to discuss problems and concerns in an informal atmosphere. This workshop will be held October 27 - 29 in Red Deer, Alberta.

The Alberta Debate and Speech Association is a charitable organization, whose objectives are to promote a program of debate and speech activities among junior and senior high school students in Alberta; to provide a communicative outlet for youth through these activities by examining both sides of issues of concern throughout Canada; and to promote community relations between youth and the public by drawing on government personnel, the business sector, educational institutions, the legal profession, the media and other members of the general public for tournament judges, guest speakers, panelists and seminar consultants.

For more information on how you can become involved contact: Mr. Wayne Fingley, Provincial Program Director, Alberta Debate and Speech Association, 9511 - 63 Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta. T6E 0G2. Phone 435-2108.

Students sign work contracts with teachers

The contract, long the governing document in the world of trade, has become novel instrument in the field of learning. In the United States, contracts between teachers and students are being used to make students more responsible for their own education.

The contract can be used at elementary or secondary level. The teacher and the student decide on an area of interest to the student, and select certain tasks to be done in that field. This could entail an agreement to read certain books, report on them or an agreement not to watch TV for a certain period, with reading substituted. The contract establishes terms, such as how the work will be graded and a completion date.

In addition to teaching responsibility, the contract's advocates say that such a document can spell out to a student the ground rules of a new school, and are a good indication of where a student is failing and why. It is said to have greater effect than traditional methods of assigning work, as it is a more individualized approach.

Various American schools are using this system, for different reasons. It has worked to effect in school settings where students have jobs and cannot attend a regular class schedule. One school is run strictly on a contract basis, and students have several contracts running simultaneously. This Contract School is run in co-operation with a conventional high school and students can use both approaches.

Community Services Report

Submitted,

by the Department

"Something New" is the theme for the City's Community Services Department this fall and Something New it is; from bringing the Department to the people right down to a new look for the fall program brochure offering 139 different programs and 17 workshops.

The cream coloured brochures were delivered to all homes in the city as well as the two rural routes last week. If you have not received one you can pick one up at either the library, city hall or community services department, and would urge you to hurry as registrations are this weekend.

You will note that the department's programs cater to all ages from babysitting for the "babes in arms" while Mom does some Keep Fit exercises right through to the offering of Ballroom dancing for the Seniors.

Speaking of dancing, our specialized program instructors are offering a new class format for the dance classes. It will operate on a progressive monthly basis commencing in October and running through to May for a monthly fee of $12.00. There are still short term (10 week) courses being offered as well. No fees for any of the dance classes will be collected registration day but will be due on the first day of each class.

The other item that is new this year, is the registration procedure used to enter the Fall courses. The past few years has been a "mail in" registration which, as the "town" grew, became more than a two week "harried" experience for staff coping with the growing numbers of registrants and a frustrating experience for the registrant, not knowing immediately if they got into their requested programs.

This year will be an "in person" registration to be held at the Perron Street Arena on September 16 and 17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. The registration procedures are outlined on page 4 of the cream coloured brochure and you are asked to look this over before registering.

The "in person" registration is necessary to give everyone an equitable chance at their choice of class.

The registration area will be divided into three main categories; Visual Arts, Performing Arts, and Recreation. The brochure tells you what category the programs fall under. There is an error in the brochure on page 17. The programs listed from Guitar on through to the Combined Dance are all Performing Arts.

The Perron Street Arena will take on the look of a fair this weekend. Saturday will feature demonstrations of dancing, weaving, potting, needlecrafts, drama, stained glass, painting and flower arranging. At 3 p.m., Lisa Sauer will give a demonstration as a majorette, another new program the department is endeavouring to get underway this fall (by the way we are having a tremendous response to date so sign up and join the gang!).

There will be more demonstrations Sunday of many of the above crafts as well as macrame, Christmas toys and decorations, history of art, and puppets. Recreation displays will be held both days. Minor hockey personnel will be on hand as well to accept last minute registrations for the 1978-79 season.

So that you may have a total look of what Community Services is all about, several displays of the "Social Services" segment will also be on hand.

At the information booth, top resource personnel will be on hand to answer any enquiries you may have. You can't find the course you would like to take? Or, you feel you have a special talent you would like to share with the Community? Speak to these resource personnel, they are always interested in new programming ideas.

If after viewing the many demonstrations, you have a change of heart as to your choice of class, additional registration forms will be available at the information booth.

As you can see, the Perron Street Arena will be a hub of activity on Saturday and Sunday so bring the family along when you come down to register and join in the fun.

PARDON US!! OUR SLIPS ARE SHOWING

After proofing material up to ten times we find we still have the odd error and some necessary changes to make to our fall program brochure. So if you would get your booklet and a pencil, please note the following brochure changes which should read as follows:

Page 15, Primitive Weaving, Thursdays is at Lacombe Clubhouse upstairs. Page 16, Pottery Level 11, should read Thursday, September 28. Page 17, From Guitar to Combined Dance should be under a sub heading of Performing Arts (please note this fact carefully so that you are in the correct registration line). Page 20, Primitive Weaving Workshop that was scheduled for October 7 and 8 will be held instead on October 28 and 29 at the Lacombe Clubhouse. Page 20, Design Workshop dates are correct but days should read Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Page 8, Ladies Combined Dance scheduled for 1 - 3 should be shown as 1:15 to 2:45 at the Grandin Clubhouse with a fee of $25 (not $40). This being a Moms and Tots program the Tots will go to the Glaewyn Centre under the All Things Bright and Beautiful program and not to the Dance Doodles and Drama as published. Page 9, Sculpture and Modelling 10 - 12 years. Time should read 6:30 - 8 p.m. Wednesdays. Learn to Sakte - there is no registration required. Page 13, Leadership Courses - a phone call to the Community Services Department (459-6601) will suffice as no fees are payable. Page 17 - Opera Awareness - instruction will be by various people each week. The program is being co-ordinated by June Leggett. Page 19, Printing Workshop 9 - 14 years will be held at Sir George Simpson Jr. High for a fee of $15 and not $2 as shown. Page 19, Spinning Workshop the fee is $10.00.

Lawlor, Wallace and Slade: A trio worth tribute

By Vicky Knight

The underlying paradox of Bernard Slade's Same Time Next Year will no doubt have a secret appeal for most Canadians. Indeed, it is tempting to say it could only have come from the pen of a Canadian. The protagonists of STNY have a most immoral love affair, which is executed in the most moral of manners. What could be more Canadian in style? As a nation, we show an hilarious tendency to garb our most bizarre behavior in drab banality. We live in a spectacular country, while taking secret pride in our national reputation for being dull. Our theatres are dynamic, but we make sure they are administered by bureaucrats. We proudly elect a flamboyant leader-then decry his lack of convention. With this paradoxical hypocrisy as a national lifestyle, who could be blamed for thinking Doris and George would be right at home in Don Mills?

Same Time Next Year, however, has more than this dichotomy going for it. It is a funny and a touching play, the sort of vehicle which inspires would-be playwrights to mutter "Now why didn't I think of that?" So neatly does the play combine romance, wit and social history that the audience is painlessly unaware it is getting a lesson in the manners and morals of three decades.

For those few who do not yet know the storyline, STNY unfolds the illicit love affair of George and Doris, who meet for one weekend a year -- for 25 years. However, this is no seedy, torrid rendezvous -- its more like a secondary mini-marriage.

When not in bed they prattle happily of their respective spouses and offspring. Over the years they become intimately acquainted with the domestic life of the other. Indeed, when George's wife Helen dies, Doris feels a genuine bereavement for a woman she never met.

In the roles of George and Doris, Marcia Wallace and John Lawlor are a delight. Lawlor projects an ingenuous charm as he paces, twitches and broods throughout the affair. Guilt is his bete noir but he thoroughly enjoys the distress it brings him. Of a more stalwart nature, Doris refuses to openly indulge in such emotional excesses. Wallace is wonderfully off-hand in her dismissal of George's devils:

"Women can adapt to rottenness quicker," says she. "Besides, you're Catholic -- you can dump all your guilt at once!"

Fortunately, the play is not an unending stream of innocuous witticisms. It is punctuated by moments of genuine pain and joy. This introduction of weightier feelings is a tricky maneuver for both playwright and cast. One wrong move can reduce the effect to a mere contrivance. However, George's revelation at the end of Act 2 is gut wrenching. Lawlor delivered his grim surprise with acute sensitivity -- at first austere and then totally overcome. A scene which could have been mawkish was intensely moving. Wallace's response was absolutely right. She shared his grief and granted comfort, no questions asked. The comfort she gave was happily devoid of the maternal overtones another actress might have been tempted to add. It was a meeting of equals.

This brings me to another endearing feature of this play. At no time were the lovers anything but equal partners in crime. Unlike Neil Simon, Slade does not view women as mere reactive agents to men. Doris is an individual who leads a full life kept strictly apart from George. Even more unusual is the fact that Slade has given Doris traits that normally are considered the sole preserve of men. It is George who spills his emotional guts, not Doris, who is more the stoic. Wallace, whose strength of character is evident whether on a talk show or the stage, has no difficulty conveying this. George is no stereotype either. It is a credit to John Lawlor that he projects George's insecurities without diminishing his masculine appeal. In the wrong hands, George could emerge as a wimp, which he definitely is not.

The first act of the play was wobbly opening night and needed some work to give it a little more zip. However, this deficiency was merely a vague recollection by the time the play had whizzed by to its end. Terry Gunvor-dahl's set, as usual, was the icing on the cake.

Anyone wanting to see this play had better get their bid in soon. I have a feeling Stage West will be a popular spot in weeks to come, judging by the instantaneous standing ovation they received Wednesday night. The production is well worthy of the tribute.

The Unlikely Lovers

As Doris looks on dubiously, George paces out his guilt. Marcia Wallace and John Lawlor won themselves a standing ovation for their opening night performance in Stage West's production of Bernard Slade's Same Time Next Year, and the honour was well deserved. Don't miss it!

obviously inebriated and sporting dyed ginger hair and a suit to match, challenged the group to play with him. The young man, Keith Moon, promptly demolished part of the drum set-up, and was immediately welcomed into the group, replacing former drummer Doug Sanden, by Pete Townshend, Roger Daltrey, and John Entwistle. At that time, Keith Moon was 17 and had already tried some 23 other jobs, however, he looked no more, spending the rest of his life with this group which later that year came to be known as THE WHO.

Joining the ranks of rockers in Rock 'n Roll Heaven, Keith Moon died from an overdose of a sedative known as Heminevrin on September 7, following a party thrown by Paul McCartney. "Wild man" Keith Moon and the Who have become a Rock and Roll legend.

George Harrison (Beatle) married Olivia Arias last week a friend for the past four years. They have a son, Ohani, who was born five weeks ago.

One of my favourite albums of all time is "Satch and Josh" released in 1975. The entire record is a masterpiece, featuring Count Basie, Oscar Peterson, Ray Brown, Freddie Green and Louie Bellson. (Sometimes I wish that "Jumpin' at the Woodside" was 24 hours long.) On "Satch and Josh, Again," released this year, John Heard replaces Ray Brown on bass, and the guitar of Freddie Green is missing, but the listening quality remains top notch. While I am definitely not a fan of the electric piano, two selections on the record feature the Count and Oscar taking turns on this instrument, and it fits well in the two numbers. These two records belong within ear's reach.

If you are a Rolling Stones fan, you will probably enjoy "Some Girls." The album cover might throw you off, but the disc inside contains some of the best work the Stones have put together in quite some time.

English and European Rock, Part 1

with Simon
I have received enough inquires from amateur and professional rock musicians in the past few weeks about the English and European rock scene in general, that I felt it is high time I did something about it.
Before I go too far, a point

must be made clear: Rock music, which is a fusion of the blues and country is totally American in origin.
The early blues singers play guitar; so do the early country singers.

So, we can safely assume that the guitar, both in its electric and acoustic form, is the number one instrument that molds the progress of rock right from the beginning, even though the piano and the electric organ did make several inroads.

Early English rock music was based solely on the American form of the music.
Big names like Billy Haley,
Elvis Presley, Carl Perkins,
Eddie Cochran, Jerry Lee
Lewis and Buddy Holly all had their imitators in England.
The late '50's and early '60's saw English names like Tommy Steel, Billy Fury, Marty Wilde, Joe Brown and of course the most influential English rocker of all times, Cliff Richard and his backing band, the Shadows.

While Cliff lacked the drawing power to say, Presley, his group, the Shadows launched a thousand imitators.
Featuring two guitars and one bass (all Fenders) and a drummer, the Shadows were to found the dynasty of British cult heroes on the guitar.

FAB FOUR

However, the early '60's brought the famous "Fab Four," the Beatles. With them came a whole bunch of musicians from the Liverpool area. Billy J. Kramer, Cilla Black, Gerry and the Paces-makers. The search for another "sound" to compete against the Mersey sound led to the discoveries of groups like the Searchers (pioneers of the 12-string electric guitar in Britain), the Hollies, Dave Clarke Five, the Animals (with Eric Bourdon), Them (with Van Morrison) and of course, the Rolling Stones. Most of the above groups were well versed in American "rockabilly" on one side, and "blues" on the other side.

It goes without saying that the Beatles themselves borrowed heavily from American rockers in their formative stages. Listen to their rendition of songs like Kansas City, Long Tall Sally, Good Golly Miss Molly, Money ...
That should tell you where they were coming from.

The Rolling Stones have been staunch supporters of the blues, and rock music.
Chuck Berry Style. More rebellious in their lifestyle and music, the Stones played a wild driving form of rhythm and blues right from the start. This was the time of the British blues, with people like Alexis Korner, and John Mayall as the big daddies.

guitar. Before Led Zep however, a little band from Birmingham (Britain's Detroit) were making loud and heavy noises with Gibson
guitars and Marshall amps.
This band was called Black Sabbath.

FLOWER CHILDREN

Psychedelia and Flower Power had its hey-day in England too, especially around 1967. The Beatles had the Mersey sound, the Stones had the London sound, the Animals had the Newcastle sound, but the sound of psychedelia was varied and interesting.

Greatest purveyors were groups like Jimi Hendrix Experience, Pink Floyd, King Crimson, Nice (later to become Emerson Lake and Palmer), Cream and the Mahavishnu Orchestra, fronted by another English guitar hero who used to play in Tony Williams' Lifetime, a jazz-rock band of American origin.

I am not attempting to say that the above bands and others like them rode on the flower children bandwagon, but the truth is, from that period, rock music began to feature long and imaginative instrumental solos, inspired, as people said, by the use of mind-expanding drugs. Pink Floyd was heavily into electronics, Keith Emerson of ELP fused rock with the classics, and another band called Yes used this formula to create beautiful music.

PROVING GROUND

Two groups, which never achieved the recognition they deserved, but which were the proving ground of England's top rock guitarists, were John Mayall's Bluesbreakers and the Yardbirds. Names like Jeff Beck, Eric Clapton, Mick Taylor and Jimmy Page
all played guitar in either band. Rod Stewart formed the Faces, and in West London, a bunch of four street toughs formed a group called the High Numbers, later known as the Who.

Early Who music is characterized by heavy drumming and powerhouse guitar chords played at extremely loud volumes. Their lyrics revealed the ennui of the youth of the day, and history had it they became very successful with a rock opera called "Tommy."

It has been right fully argued that Led Zeppelin, formed by Jimmy Page and Robert Plant, started the "heavy music" scene. The two gentlemen themselves played and sang the blues for a while in a group called the Yardbirds, which once featured Jeff Beck as lead guitar. It also had one of the most underrated drummers in England Ian Paice.

Across the channel, on the other side of the North Sea, were the countries of Western Europe. Musicians over there were exposed to American music, but the language barrier seemed to put a lot of difficulties in their way. This state of affairs led to the formation of "European" rock sounds which are characterized by the use of "classical" music riffs.

MUSICAL GENIUS

West Germany is the home of another musical genius called Karl Stockhausen.
whose form of intelligent and eccentric musicality led to the formation of a dynasty of German technorockers like
Can, Amon Duul, Tangerine Dream and Kraft Werke.

Italy had been the home of many exiled American jazz musicians, so it is no wonder that Italian rock features good classical musicians who could also "blow" when it came down to it. Listen to a classical-rock band called PFM.

Holland had several bands like Shocking Blue, Golden Earring and the much lauded Focus.

France had an earlier head start in rock. French rocker Johnny Halliday spoke perfect English (he was born in America), and most of the rock standards of the day were translated into impeccable French. But ther France also had Charles

Writing contest open to High Schools

A local student here could win as much as $1,000 for an original piece of creative writing this year. Canada Permanent Trust Company has just released the rules and regulations governing its 12th Annual Creative Writing Contest which is open to all high school students from Grade 9 and up.

According to the company there will be cash awards of $500, $300 and $100 for the top three submissions in all provinces, including the combined Yukon and Northwest Territories. The first prize winners in each province will be judged together to determine the national grand prize winner who receives a total of $1,000. This is believed to be the largest cash award available to a high school student for creative writing.

The following are the major points of the contest: Students must write up to 2,000 words on any subject which can be fiction, non-fiction or any form of prose; (poetry is not eligible); entries must be written during the current school year; and the closing date is December 15, 1978. Judging emphasis will be on writing ability, imagination and originality.

Copies of rules have been sent to school principals and additional copies are available from The Permanent's Public Relations Office at 320 Bay Street, Toronto, Room 1502.

A company spokesman stated that it had received many favourable comments about its involvement in creative writing from teachers and students from across Canada and during the 12 years of sponsorship the creative efforts of many fine young writers have come to light. In fact, many schools now make the contest a class assignment.

The company usually receives around 2,000 entries which are read and judged in January and February. Finalists are announced in March.

Accent on Akins

By Pam Publicover
School's back, and this year should prove to be very interesting with almost half our staff departed to W.D. Cuts and replaced with a new batch of teachers. Those teachers are: Mrs. Nancy Adams, Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton, Mrs. Lynn Joberg, Mrs. Laura MacDonald, Miss Wendy Melke, Mr. Perry Pearn, Mr. Barrie Schulha, Mrs. Julie Zard and Mr. Leonard Wheeler. Added to the teachers is Mr. Jack Bauman, Lorne Akins new principal for some years to come.

During this week, students must start to think about who is going to be the class representative for the Students' Union and the grade seven's must elect a grade seven representative. This week will also be regular working days instead of introductions to each course like the previous week. Stanford tests were given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings and students were let out early for noon dismissal.

Along with the new teachers and policies, we welcome the grade sevens to Lorne Akins and hope they have a good year in junior high. Watch for Accent on Akins in two weeks!

Church lands study nearly complete - there are many needs

Pastor Irwin Kujat of the Sturgeon Valley Baptist Church is "just finishing" a report on behalf of the St. Albert Ministerial Association on the question of land for churches in the City of St. Albert.

About a year ago he agreed to head a study of availability of sites for churches with the assistance of various members of the Association. "We hope to be able to present our findings to city council within a month," he told the Gazette.

Pastor Knight has found "quite a few needs." His own church has been operating out of Paul Kane High School for two and one-half years, and their efforts to find land for a church have been unsuccessful so far. The United Church, the Roman Catholic, the First Baptist and the Pentecostal are all looking for land for needed expansion. "There is a real need," he said, "and little land available, in fact the situation has tightened over the last year while we have been working on a report."

The Anglican Church is also experiencing a real growth, he added, and while they moved to the Seminary recently the Rev. Dodman has expressed a real interest in moves to solve the problem of making land available for churches. The Mormons have also been making enquiries.

"It was also interesting" said Pastor Kujat how many local people we called upon are still attending churches in Edmonton. The two reasons given were appreciation of the congregation there, and we have children in their program, or, churches in St. Albert are crowded.

Churches can be of benefit to the city in a number of ways he said - they can help in the tax structure, in providing community services and helping with volunteer work.

The major concern of the Association is that land be made available. "I am a firm believer that churches should pay their own way, but sites should be available," said Pastor Kujat, "and costs of $200,000 per acre are impossible."

One site investigated on St. Albert Trail south was 6.3 acres at about $50 - $55,000 per acre - but that was out of St. Albert. About six months ago property in the vicinity of Grandin Road was investigated, but between three and four acres was quoted at $700,000. Some other land on the Trail was priced out at $150,000 per acre, but was under commercial zoning. The committee also found that land zoned for town houses or condominiums was out of line for churches.

When it is necessary to provide parking, a congregation of some 200 needs two or two and one-half acres. Without parking provision a half acre would be adequate. While a site in an awkward place is not suitable, churches do not want prime land, nor land at $200,000 per acre.

To avoid the parking requirements Pastor Kujat reports that churches in a number of other Alberta centres have located within large shopping centres, or on land adjacent, and those investigated were found to be working well. He mentioned a Baptist congregation which purchased within a centre and one that has been near such a centre and using their parking for 16 years in a good association. Another denomination purchased in Castle Downs with a similar agreement on parking with a developer there. We were too late in contacting Abacus about a site in or near the coming large shopping centre in St. Albert, he said - one needs to be in very early in the discussions.

"I believe we should be good stewards of land - and not duplicated land for parking if possible." Pastor Kujat also believes that church halls or education Please Turn to Page 22

THE MODEL PRAYER

"Give us this day our daily bread." That simple petition from the Lord's Prayer might be considered too straightforward by practitioners of modern legalese. The Wall Street Journal speculated on how current contract jargon might make that one sentence more explicit:

"We respectfully petition, request, and entreat that due and adequate provision be made, this day and the date hereinafter subscribed, for the organizing of such methods of allocation and distribution as may be deemed necessary and proper to assure the reception by and for said petitioners of such quantities of baked cereal products as shall, in the judgement of the aforesaid petitioners, constitute a sufficient supply thereof."

Three of its seven petitions refer to God and His Kingdom hallowed be thy name, My Kingdom come, thy will be done. The last four petitions refer to man: Give us this day our daily bread, (bless the way we earn it) Forgive us our debts, lead us not into temptation (not because we want an easy path but because we fear lest we fall,) deliver us from evil or the evil one.

There are no personal pronouns in the prayer, "I" is left out. Note the structure of this prayer God first and man second.

lands study

wings could be made available for community use and for sharing between churches as is presently being done. Presently he sees a need coming for 15 or so classrooms for his own congregation's use in an education wing. Such property should not be left standing idle for five or six days of the week, he feels.

Another concept he believes very viable is that of churches and schools in new areas of St. Albert using joint parking facilities.

However Pastor Kujat has reservations on the "whole area of dedicated land for churches." Questions of how to allocate it and who would make the final decision bother him.

"If each congregation gets into the market as needed, and is given a reasonable chance of latching onto available property, we would be only too happy," he said.

Pastor Kujat also feels strongly that since city council does arrange land for schools in new developments, that land for churches could be similarly arranged. "Let council put a time limit on developing such property as a church site," he said. "say six months or a year. If the churches are slow and do not take the opportunity it would revert back. That would be fair," he added.

"But we cannot afford to pay the same prices as developers of condominiums, we have to have a lower scale." He has some concern that if developments are planned by council and the developer alone, through a development agreement between the two, then the churches could end up with nothing.

"Where God is at work, ways can be found," said Pastor Kujat, "and we have good people on council and in the community who will help."

Bishop to visit

St. Matthew's Church

The congregation of St. Matthew's Anglican Church will have a distinguished visitor Sunday, September 17 when the Bishop of Edmonton makes a pastoral visit. Bishop John Langstone will attend the 11:30 service and give the sermon on that occasion, in the church's new location at St. Joseph's Seminary. Coffee will follow the service.

Thank You

We sincerely thank everyone who came to our 50th Anniversary and to all who sent cards and gifts. It made our evening a very successful affair.

Annavour, a brilliant lyricist, and Johnny had always featured English and American musicians in his band. In latter years, more progressive bands like Rotomagus and Magma were to come out of Parish.

However, the sophistication of ProgRock led to its doom. A new generation of kids, who were only toddlers at the time of the Beatles, could not understand why people, and musicians in particular, should get up on stage, and play 30-minute guitar of organ solos. They wanted to be entertained, but the bands in their pseudointellectual poses have all but forgotten how to play simple kick-as 3-chord rock 'n' roll.

More next week.

Vegetables in desserts!

From Alberta Agriculture, Home Economics and 4H Division, District Home Economist, Pat Doerksen, Box 1020, Morinville, Phone 939-4351

At this time of year, vegetables are in an abundant supply, in home gardens, market gardens or at grocery stores.

Eating vegetables raw or by boiling, frying or baking them, are the most common way to serve these low calorie, nutritious foods. If you are tending to tire of serving raw or cooked vegetables, why not try grating raw vegetables into cakes, cookies or pies. The grated vegetable mostly provides moisture to the product. Beets, carrots, zucchini, potatoes (sweet) and parsnips are some examples of vegetables that can be used.

Here are just two vegetable dessert recipes to try, but if you would like additional recipes for using beets, carrots, zucchini, sweet potatoes, etc., please give me a call.

RED BEET CHOCOLATE CAKE

1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups sugar or 1 cup honey
1 1/2 tps. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
6 tbsps. cocoa
1 cup rapeseed oil
1 tsp. vanilla
4 eggs
1 1/2 cups finely grated cooked beets

Sift dry ingredients. Stir in oil and vanilla, then eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in beets, combining well. Spread batter in greased 9 x 13 - inch pan and bake about 50 minutes at 350° F.

CARROT-COCONUT BREAD

Makes four small loaves. Temperature 350°F. Bake for 45 - 50 minutes. Preheat oven to 350°F (note: to substitute honey for sugar, omit sugar and add 1/4 cup honey with liquid ingredients).

In a large bowl, sift together:
2 1/2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda

1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. salt

Combine separately and add:

3 beaten eggs
1/2 cup cooking oil
1/2 cup milk

Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Stir in:

2 cups shredded carrots
1 1/2 cup coconut
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup pecans or other nuts

Turn into four well-greased and floured 16 ounce fruit or vegetable cans, or two 9 in. bread pans. Bake 45 - 50 minutes. Remove from cans and cool thoroughly. Wrap and refrigerate overnight or until used.

Orville and the tomato stalk

Next to his house on Sheridan Drive Orville Gossan has some very unique tomato plants. The plants with Russian and Italian heritage have reached eight feet plus. Orville started the plants from seeds planted the last week in May. Also unique with the plants is that they are very meaty with little or no seed inside. Shapes are also vary from an elongated 'banana' to a 'pear'.

Distillery launches chef talent search

Chefs across Canada are being invited to enter the Wiser's Deluxe Culinary Classic, a talent search which will culminate with the judging of 20 regional finalists and the selection of a national champion in Montreal November 15, 1978.

"We know there is a tremendous wealth of talent among chefs in Canada," said Clifford Hatch Jr., president, Wiser's Distillery Limited, sponsors of the event.

The Wiser's Deluxe Culinary Classic is officially endorsed by the Canadian Federation of Chefs de Cuisine, which represents professional chefs across the country.

The "Culinary Classic" is open to all professional chefs, sous chefs, apprentice chefs and students in training at recognized Canadian colleges.

The one chef from the five who achieved the highest scoring from the judging, which is based on international standards, will be given the highest award -- airline tickets for two for a trip to Europe where they will have the opportunity to tour selected wine and spirit establishments.

The Wiser's Deluxe Trophy, a magnificently-handcrafted 13-inch tall piece of Waterford crystal mounted on a handsome wooden base, will go on exhibition during the year to the restaurants or hotels which employ the five national category winners.

"We recognize that to promote the fine quality of Canadian cuisine, not only the chefs but their employers as well deserve credit for their imagination, achievement and efforts," says Clifford Hatch, Jr.

Home of the Week

NON-BASEMENT LUXURY HOME Plan No. P5-3-283

There's luxury living and convenience galore in this non-basement three bedroom family home.

The exterior has vertical cedar siding accented by decorative panelled front and garage doors. To best compliment the natural shake roof as illustrated, finish the siding with a wood stain. If you prefer a low maintenance exterior, use vinyl or aluminum siding, but be sure to choose a colour and texture suitable to your design.

The sloping ceiling in the entrance foyer and hall add a spaciousness which is carried over to the sunken living room. There's an immediate view of both fireplaces from the entry. An open railing with decorative spindles between the hall and the sunken living area, adds to the spacious feeling of the central hall.

The dining room is conveniently located next to the kitchen nook area for easy meal serving. As well as having ample cupboard space, the kitchen has a phone desk, a real plus for an efficient kitchen.

A pocket door separates the kitchen from the utility area. There's a wash-up area for the gardener, coat storage, and a washer and dryer, next to the back door. If you're hooked on the sun-dried freshness of sheets, this design allows for outdoor clothes drying just steps from the washer.

The double garage location will make for easy unloading of the weekly groceries, either to the kitchen or to the large secure storage area.

Featuring a raised corner hearth, the family room has an entry from the main hall, as well as from the kitchen.

Bantam Football League off to a good start

Two games took place last Saturday in the St. Albert Bantam Football League, which pitted Carma against Akins and Standard General against Willowbrook.

In the first game, Akins took the lead in the first quarter, when John McKinley went 15 yards on an end sweep for six points. The point after was made good by Jim Kennedy.

Carma came close in the same quarter, on a 55 yard pass and run play from quarterback Dan Grant to Garth Peskett, but the play was called back.

In the second quarter, Garth Peskett again made it to the end zone and this time it stood, with Dan Grant making the single, which tied up the game.

Jim Kennedy went 45 yards for the major, only to have it called back, and then later in the second quarter went over from the 13 following a 65 yard drive to keep Akins in the lead. The convert attempt was no good.

Carma pretty well took things over in the last half, scoring three majors. Rob Strecker scored the only touchdown in the third quarter on a 15 yard pass and run play following a 40 yard drive. The convert was no good.

Then in the last quarter of play, Garth Peskett scored following a 70 yard drive, and the convert was made good by Dan Grant. Dan Grant scored his first major of the game following a 47 yard drive. Garth Peskett made the convert good.

Darren Mazur scored for Akins in the fourth quarter on an unconverted touchdown. Final score was Carma 27 - Akins 19.

In the other game, Standard General doubled Willowbrook by a score of 25 to 12 in an action packed game.

Dan Douziech scored for Standard General on a 30 yard run following a 57 yard drive. The convert was no good. Willowbrook had a touchdown play called back after Brent Sedgewick went 30 yards to the end zone on an end sweep.

In the second quarter, both teams scored. Standard General's touchdown was set up by an interception by Dave Clark who took the ball from Willowbrook's 40, down to the 27. Barton McLean chalked up the major going into the end zone from the two yard line. Dan Douziech collected the single.

Willowbrook had things going in the second, as Steve Zelinsky scored on a one yard run. Again the convert was no good. Then Willowbrook had some momentum, and were pressuring the Generals for the major, but time ran out, and the score at the end of the half was 13 to 6 for the Generals.

Willowbrook scored their last points in the third quarter, when Stewart Fowler scored following a 50 yard drive.

Barton McLean scored again for Standard General in the third on an unconverted touchdown. Then in the final quarter, Robin Ganton put the last points on the board on a 15 yard run.

Willowbrook came awfully close in this quarter going 43 yards only to be held on the four yard line of the Generals. Final score, Standard Generals 25 - Willowbrook - 12.

Hockey rep teams take to ice on weekend

Pro-Western Plastics Ltd. has joined St. Albert's minor hockey representative program for the 1978-79 hockey season and will sponsor the Juvenile B hockey club.

Don Lacroix, a long time resident of St. Albert and president of the local firm, expects to name the new team shortly.

The entry by Pro-Western, which has sponsored house league teams for almost a decade, leaves the eight representative teams still without two sponsors - the Bantam B's and the Midget B's. It is expected at least one additional sponsor will be found this week, leaving the representative division only one opening for the coming season.

In addition it appears as most of the coaching problems that had been identified two weeks ago have been solved, with Ken Archibald signing on as an assistant coach with the Midget B's and Jeff Wilson as an assistant coach with the Juvenile B's. Mr. Wilson however is out of the city until October 2 and the coaching reins will be handled by Juvenile A coaches Jim Harmon and Bob Sage, along with Doug Lagasse, a former juvenile coach from Montreal who has recently moved into the city.

Mr. Lagasse is expected to join Mr. Wilson as an assistant and the two should provide very capable coaching for the newly formed team.

Representative chairman Bob Couture however warned that because of a "poor turnout" for juveniles last week the juvenile B program could be in jeopardy.

"We've made tremendous efforts to get the Juvenile B program started this year because we've had lots of indication in the past the boys want it," Mr. Couture said. "We're expecting a much better turnout for the subsequent practices, but it is finally up to the boys. If they don't want to show up, we'll have to cancel the program ... and that would be a shame."

"We've budgeted almost $58,000 this year to operate the eight teams, ordered new uniforms, goalie equipment, scheduled ice for games and practices at both St. Albert arenas, along with ice at Calahoo and the Sturgeon Arena, and we're trying to do things first class," Mr. Couture said. All players registered in St. Albert's minor hockey program in past years, those living in St. Albert and those enrolled in our school programs are eligible to play in our minor hockey system," he said.

At the same time Coaches Selection chairman Doug McConachie announced a change in coaches for the Pee wee B's. The team was to have been coached by Jim Stanton, a former house league coach in St. Albert. However Mr. Stanton's job commitments have changed and as a result he has had to withdraw.

In his place will be Ed Alpaugh, a former house league coach. Mr. Alpaugh has coached in St. Albert since 1972.

All players wishing to play minor hockey are required to register before going on the ice and those registration forms are available at both the RMC Sports in the Grandin Mall and at the St. Albert Sportshop in downtown St. Albert.

All positions on all teams are still open and players who did not show up for initial practices are still asked to appear at the next regularly scheduled outings.

Each player is charged $1 for initial practices, although the representative division will assume all operating costs once the teams are finalized.

Bargains galore

The Perron Street Arena was a hive of activity Saturday with the second annual equipment exchange. Skis to hockey sweaters were up for sale.

Tire pressure

Most tire troubles are caused by improper inflation. This can be combatted by monthly checks of air pressure. Watch for underinflation, which can result in heat buildup in the tire, increasing the possibility of internal deterioration. Another problem brought about by underinflation is tread squirm, which hastens tread wear. Wait until tires cool to check pressure. Hot tires register higher pressure which will return to normal after the tire cools. Service station gauges are often inaccurate, so an inexpensive pressure gauge is a worthwhile investment.

St. Albert Junior Saints hockey training camp, opened last week in the Akinsdale Arena with an excellent crop of rookies turning out. Jim McEwan (16) has just released a wrist shot at Brian Ford, who will probably be one of the 10 or 11 rookies to make the club. McEwan also had a good shot at one of the positions up until Tuesday night, when he collided with the boards and is suspected to have fractured his leg.

Oilers in Sweden

Edmonton Oiler Coach Glen Sather and 25 signed players left Sunday night for a two week training camp in Sweden. They are scheduled to return September 25.

Other White goals were scored by Ron Chipperfield, Jim Mayer, Kirk Fyfe and Wes George.

Brett Callighen, Ron Carter and Pierre Guite scored for the Blues.

Oilers have released their pre-season schedule. It opens September 14 when they begin a six game series in Sweden (three against the Nationals). Four of these, September 15, 17, 18 and 21 will be carried live on CFRN radio.

In late September Oilers will play a further six games including four against National Hockey League clubs.

Oilers play the Winnipeg Jets September 29 at the Coliseum before travelling to Minnesota for a game with the North Stars October 3.

Vancouver Canucks will be here October 3, Minnesota on the 7th and Colorado Rockies on the 8th.

Edmonton's last pre-season game will be in Winnipeg October 11.

Two of last years veterans of the St. Albert Saints, Keith Hertz (front) and Rick Hendricks, got in a little practice during the Saints training camp and also assisted coach Doug Messier in a number of drills. Hertz is going to Phoenix for the Pacific Coast League this season, while Hendricks is scheduled to leave shortly for Fort Wayne, Indiana, for the International Hockey League.

Red Lions crush opposition to win championship

By Paul Riopel

The Barrhead Broncos jumped to an early 2-0 lead against the determined Westlock Red Lions in semi final "A" of the NCABL Championship series held in Barrhead on September 3.

The lead was short-lived, however, as the Red Lions came storming back to defeat the Broncos 12-3.

In semi final "B", the Rochester Royals had a more difficult time defeating the Bon Accord Tigers by a score of 11-8. With the score tied 8-8 after eight innings of play the Royals managed to rally for three hits to score three runs and advance to meet the Red Lions in the final for the second consecutive season.

The Red Lion bats were impossible to silence as the club amassed 18 hits while allowing but eight for the Royals on their way to a 14-3 championship victory and their third title over the past four years.

The league's most valuable player award for 1978 was won jointly by Dwaine Jolliffe of the Westlock Red Lions and Dale Lewis of the Bon Accord Tigers with 36 points in the balloting.

Barry Kuzminski of the Westlock Astros became the first recipient of the Dan Gerlach Memorial Award presented to the most promising junior player in the North Central Alberta Baseball League.

The league wishes to remind the management from all currently registered clubs in the NCABL of the important bi-annual meeting to be held at the Georges P. Vanier School in Morinville, Alberta on September 23, commencing at 9:30 a.m.

Capp Records Record

Edmonton's own Terry Capp (inset) broke the last time record for top fuel dragsters Saturday with a run of 5:95. The previous track record (5.98) was held by Don "Big Daddy" Garlits. Not to be outdone Capp proceeded with another record time Sunday of 5.91 for the quarter mile. But . . . when it came down to the final, Bremerton, Washington, native Rob Bruins, had the best time (6:02) to win his first NHRA Northwest title. Ex-Edmontonian, now Vancouverite Gordie Bonin captured his fourth Northwestern division funny car championship.

Lions to take over Poplar Park

The Morinville Recreation Board held their regular meeting September 7 at the Cultural Centre.

Permission was asked by the Lion's Club to officially take over Poplar Park. They wish to update and improve the facilities. The Board had no objections, other than requesting that a plan be submitted. They were reminded to consider the proximity of the park to traffic which will become heavier owing to the new subdivision to the south.

There was a lengthy discussion on Heritage Park. It was brought to our attention that some of our public fear closure of the park. The wish of the board is to curtail the entry to one only. Fish and Wildlife have Heritage Lake on their 1979 priority list to assist us to stabilize the banks. At that time, traffic will be guided to one road only to parking areas. The kitchens have been completed. Stoves and tables will be ordered in the spring of 1979. The present plans are to encourage school children to assist us in further tree planting in the spring. There is also seeding of grass to be done after the lake banks are stabilized.

Plans for landscaping around the cultural centre are on view in the building. This area will become known as "Place St. Jean Baptiste". The statue presently on the grounds will be a focal point.

There are more parks in Morinville. The Forest Glen area is still in the rough. This is to be landscaped by the developer, then the Recreation Board will take over the planning with the local people assisting in the desires of the community.

Qualico Developments attended a committee meeting. They desire to work with the Board in their overall plan, suggesting for instance, a lake, that can be used for outdoor skating in the winter.

The tennis court construction has come to a halt, owing to the heavy rains. Good compaction is needed before surfacing can proceed.

Interclub meetings will reconvene on September 21 at 8 p.m. in the Cultural Centre. All clubs are invited to attend. These meetings have proved a catalyst in the community in the past. Please attend and learn what other clubs plan for the coming season.

Calahoo residents meeting with Councillor again

A number of concerns the residents of Calahoo have regarding their representation on the MD Council are being looked into. These problems came to light Tuesday, August 15, when about 80 residents met with Councillor Glenn Berry in the Gazebo to discuss a number of the concerns they had. Since that time, while there has been little obvious action taken, Mr. Berry has stated that he is looking into some of the problems.

In a conversation with the organizer of the concerned Calahoo group, Councillor Berry pointed out that the old grader is presently used exclusively on the correction line, and a new grader is in use for the rest of Division 4.

Mr. Berry also commented that the maintainer has been instructed to put a crown on the road. In the past, it was fairly obvious that there was little or no crown maintained on many of the roads in the area, which appears to be the major reason that the roads were continually in such poor condition.

These concerns and others will be the major topics of discussion at the next meeting with Councillor Berry, which will be held Monday, September 18 at 8 p.m. in the Gazebo in Calahoo. Residents of the area are urged to attend.

Quality makes barley attractive feed grain

From the Canadian Wheat Board

Although barley runs a distant second to corn in both world production and trade, it's the most important coarse grain in many countries, including Canada, where the climate isn't favourable for growing corn. But because barley is adaptable to a number of different climates, it's grown in more areas than any other crop, and is an important food and feed grain in many countries.

Cultivated barley is thought to have originated from wild strains in Asia or Ethiopia. It's known to have been grown by Swiss Lake Dwellers several thousand years ago. North American barley cultivation was started by English and Dutch settlers in the 17th century.

Over 4,000 varieties of barley are grown throughout the world. There are two main types: 2-row and 6-row, which refer to the arrangement of kernels in the head. Besides the familiar hulled varieties, there are some that are "naked" or hullless. There are both spring and fall-seeded barleys, and the hulls of kernels can be light yellow, black, red or purple. North American barley varieties are normally referred to as either white or blue, but these are the colours of the aleurone, one of the outer layers of the kernel.

Last year, world barley production totalled 170 million tons (3.2 billion bushels) which represents 25 percent of total coarse grain production. The Soviet Union is by far the largest producer, with a total of 55 million tons last year. Barley has become a very important crop in the Soviet Union. It does well in the more remote, shorter growing season areas that have been opened up over the past several years, and the emphasis on increasing the amount of meat in the Soviet diet has led to an increase in feed grain demand.

Canada followed the Soviet Union in production last year with a total of 11.5 million tons. Other major producers included the United Kingdom (10.9 million), France

Redwater Fertilizer Plant safety program continues

About 80 people attended a safety barbecue sponsored by the Redwater Fertilizer Plant on Sunday. The theme of the afternoon was, "Safety as a Family Affair."

Sixty-five people took their turn on "The Persuader," a machine which simulates a car accident occurring at a speed of 10 miles per hour. The man in charge of the unit noted that a higher than normal per cent of the people readily agreed to the importance of seat belts, which the machine clearly displays. It is thought that the defensive driving programs the people have attended through other activities of the Fertilizer Plant's Safety Committees attributed to the higher rate of acceptance from the conclusions drawn through the use of "The Persuader."

Besides enjoying tasty steaks, the people who attended the picnic were given the opportunity to try out some different types of fire extinguishers. The general consensus was, that while most of the people had fire extinguishers in the home, most of them had never used one, or even knew how to use them.

Towards the end of this month, the Safety Committees at the Fertilizer Plant hope to hold a coaches clinic. The main theme of the clinic will be to explain the difference between professional sports and amateur sports, the necessity of pre-game warm-ups, the proper use of equipment, and a general understanding of first aid, so that any injuries can be attended to immediately.

Ravenous fund raisers

Rain cancelled the Legal Gymkhana but not the excellent feast and Polynesian entertainment. It was so good that the horses were hardly missed at all. The Legal Light Horse Club was raising money for rental of the old curling rink for winter equestrian activities.

Cliff and Rita Crozier and Harold and Mary Clark, enjoyed their journey through the Lynn Canal on board the Fairweather. The trip was part of their Alaskan tour.

Namoo couples enjoy cruise to Alaska

Namoo residents Harold and Mary Clark and Cliff and Rita Crozier recently enjoyed a unique holiday - a cruise to Alaska. Reporting on their holiday is Rita Crozier.

We boarded the Prinsendam at Vancouver on August 1st on a three day cruise through the Inside Passage to Juneau, Alaska. The route took us by the Burard Inlet, Straight of Georgia, Campbell River and several Indian villages, famous for their Totem Poles.

Our first port-of-call was Ketchikan, the Salmon capital of the world. We toured through the town and out to the Tongas National Forest to see totem poles of the Tlingit and Haida Indians. Ketchikan has one of the busiest water fronts, as there are no roads out of the town.

Arriving at Juneau, the capital of Alaska, we saw the famous Mendenhall Glacier, said to be the largest glacier accessible by road. We attended a Salmon bake, where the salmon was baked over an open fire of alderwood. While on a salmon fishing charter, we caught some silver salmon.

We then boarded a 150 passenger excursion vessel for a daylight cruise to Skagway through the beautiful 100 mile waterway of the Lynn Canal.

The next morning we boarded the narrow gauge railroad to Whitehorse, Yukon, following along the path of the Trail of 98. The railroad climbs 2,885 feet the first 20 miles out of town.

We left Whitehorse via Alaskan Tour Bus on a scenic two-day drive to Fairbanks, Alaska through Klauan Park. Here we toured through the city and out to the university of Alaska and stopped along the Trans-Alaskan Pipeline. Later in the day we had a ride on an Alaskan riverboat.

The next morning we travelled by tour bus over the George Park Highway to Mount McKinley. We took a wildlife tour and were fortunate enough to see a lot of wildlife and to view the magnificent Mt. McKinley, the highest mountain in North America. The mountain is usually clouded over and only one in nine ever get to see it.

We travelled on to Anchorage, which, with a population of 180,000, is the largest city of Alaska. We saw the remains and damage of the earthquake of 1964 and saw the beautiful Cook Inlet and Lake Hood, one of the largest float plane bases in the world. We travelled south over the Seward Highway to Iceberg Lake and on to a ski resort and rode on one of the longest chair lifts in the world.

We departed from Anchorage to Seattle by Alaskan Airlines to end our 14 day tour to Alaska.

The name Alaska comes from an Indian word meaning "Great Land" and it certainly is.

Vimy is scene of summer wedding

Our Lady of Victories Church, Vimy was the scene of a beautiful summer wedding on August 5 when Miss Mariette Laplante and Mr. Dale Francis began their life together. Rev. Camille Dozois performed the triple ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Laplante of Vimy and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Francis from Edmonton.

The bride and groom, both given away by their parents, walked down the aisle to the strains of "We've Only Just Begun" and "Welcome to my World" on flute and guitars. The bride was a vision of loveliness in a floor length silk wedding gown featuring a parson's collar, yoke and long sleeves of point d'esprit trimmed with Venetian lace. The A-line skirt formed a sweeping train falling from the waistline. Her cathedral length veil which formed a blusher was held by a lace embroidered Juliet cap. A cascade of pink sweetheart roses, daisies and baby's breath formed her bouquet. The bride also wore the gloves the groom's grandmother had worn 40 years ago.

The bride was attended by matron of honor Mrs. Paul-ette Wentzell, her sister. Bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Miss Ila Francis and Miss Val Smart, close friend. The girls were charming wearing identical gowns of light pink polyester crepe gowns accented by dainty capes of floral nylon. Lynne Laplante, the bride's little sister, was flower girl and wore a gown identical to the bridesmaids. All carried baskets of white daisies and pink baby's breath.

The groom was attended by Bill Davis and Ken Kordyback, both friends of the groom and the bride's brother, Richard Laplante. Master John Trotter, cousin of the groom was ringbearer. The groom and all his attendants were handsome in their burgundy tuxedos complimented by ruffled pink shirts with the exception of the groom who wore a white shirt. Dale wore a pink rose boutonniere while all the other attendants wore white daisies. Mr. Keith White and Mr. Darrell Martindale ushered the guests. Mrs. Myrtle Sherstianko and Mrs. Laura Onofrychuk delivered the readings during the ceremony. Miss Lisa Edwards, flautist and soloist, Misses Brenda Worth and Renette Bertholet, guitarists and Miss Vivian Huot organist greatly enhanced the wedding ceremony.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Laplante chose a pale yellow sheer polyester gown featuring a fitted waist and butterfly swing skirt. Her accessories were silver and a glamaia formed her corsage. The groom's mother was elegant in a gown of turquoise silk polyester enhanced by a floral cape. She wore white accessories and a glamaia en corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception and banquet were held at Holland House. The bridal table was decorated with baskets of gladioli and centered by a three tiered wedding cake made by Miss Ila Francis and decorated by Mrs. Joanne Davis. Lighted white tapers completed the decor. Guestbook attendants were Misses Jackie and Allison Sherstianko. Master of ceremonies for the occasion was the bride's uncle Mr. Bill Onofrychuk who did a splendid job. Toast to the bride was proposed in a very special way by Mr. Paul St. Arnaud. Miss Ila Francis did the honors, welcoming her new sister as did Richard Laplante in welcoming his new brother. The excellent dance music was provided by "Let's Boogie" and enjoyed by all. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Brenda Worth and the garter was caught by Ken Martindale. After a honeymoon trip to the west coast the happy newlyweds are now residing at Michener Park, Edmonton.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were from Tofield, San Francisco, Calgary, Fort McMurray, Oshawa, Ontario, Apsley, Ontario, Red Deer, Vermilion and Lethbridge.

PRE-EMERGENT AVADEx BW. THE WILD OAT HERBICIDE THAT KEEPS YOUR CROPPING OPTIONS OPEN.

Apply pre-emergent Avadex® BW herbicide by Monsanto after October 1st - but before soil freeze-up - and you'll be able to plant wheat, barley, flax, rapeseed, mustard or sugarbeets in the spring.

Getting your herbicide application out of the way in the fall can take a lot of pressure off your spring work-load. What's equally important is that you can get that job out of the way - and then take until spring to decide what your best cropping choices will be.

Pre-emergent Avadex BW controls wild oats before they steal moisture and nutrients from your crop.

Over 90%* of the wild oats in acres treated with Avadex® BW never get to break ground. And that's because Avadex BW is absorbed directly by young wild oat shoots - controlling them before they do their worst damage.

Some tips on proper incorporation of fall-applied granular Avadex BW.

1. Granular Avadex BW can be applied to either summerfallow or stubble, trashy or cloddy fields in the fall (liquid Avadex BW can be applied in the fall, but only on summerfallow fields).
2. Incorporate within 48 hours of treatment using a disc type implement or cultivator to a depth of 2 inches or less. Incorporation in two directions is necessary and both operations can be done in the fall, or one pass in the fall followed by the second at right angles in the spring. In stubble, single pass incorporation in the fall will preserve most of the stubble on the soil surface over winter. However, this must be followed by a second incorporation in spring. Disc type implements must be followed by a harrow for the best results.
3. In spring, avoid working the soil deeper than 2 inches.
4. For wheat, seed below the soil layer treated with Avadex BW.

Always read and follow the label directions for Avadex BW.

Morinville welcomes new teachers

By Margaret Yacyshen

Several new teachers have joined the staff at Notre Dame and Georges P. Vanier schools this year. Following is a brief introduction of each of them to better acquaint them to the members of the community.

There are five new teachers at Notre Dame. One of these is Miss Marilyn Ogronick, who has one of the grade one classes. She is a U of A graduate who taught for one year in Westlock before coming to Morinville.

Another new teacher is Miss Belinda Smith who is also instructing grade one. She is a recent graduate of the U of A and presently is a resident of Edmonton.

Mrs. Barbara Brochu, a grade two teacher, also graduated from the U of A this past spring. She and her husband have recently made their home on an acreage outside Riviere Qui Barre.

Miss Joanne Bruha, who has another of the grade two classes, just joined the Notre Dame staff on September 7. This is her first year of teaching after completing her studies at the U of A.

In the Opportunity Room is Mrs. Elizabeth Cheesbrough. She is starting her third year of teaching after spending a year in Spruce Grove and one with the Edmonton Separate School Board.

The Georges P. Vanier staff this year includes six new teachers as well as a new secretary. Miss Rose-marie Young, who has 7C as her homeroom, comes to Morinville after teaching in Chicoutimi, Quebec for two and a half years. Her subject areas are language arts and French.

Mrs. Linda Duquette, the 9A homeroom teacher, is instructing math and phys. ed. Previously, she spent three years teaching in Grande Cache.

The 9B homeroom teacher, Mr. Andy Albas, is instructing Grades 7-12 French. He graduated this spring from the U of A, lives in Edmonton, is married and has a son.

Miss Vicky Walker with 9C as her homeroom, is teaching phys. ed., typing and religion this year. She graduated this spring from the U of A and is now living in St. Albert.

The business education program is being taught by Mrs. Shirley Auvigne, who is now a Morinville resident. She is also a recent U of A graduate.

The music teacher, Mr.

John Unsworth, comes to Morinville after teaching in Manchester, England for 17 years. He is married and has four children. However, his family will not be moving to Edmonton until next spring.

The new secretary at Georges P. Vanier is Mrs.

Diane Caldwell who is known to many Morinville residents having lived here with her husband and son for several years.

A warm welcome to the community is extended to all the new teachers as well as wishes for a successful year.

Judging by the smiles Gerry Ward, left, and Don Tasa were enjoying the job of cooking steaks for the second annual Cardiff barbecue held August 27 at the Ward Home. We understand Gerry was the patio superintendent and Don the chef, an arrangement that worked most satisfactorily from the cooking point of view.

Cardiff Column

By Florence Vranas

The second annual Cardiff barbecue was again held at the home of Gerry and Ethel Ward. We were fortunate indeed to have sunny weather amid all the rain we've been experiencing recently. Not all members were able to attend for various reasons, but those who did enjoyed delicious steaks done to perfection by Don Tasa. Don and his family were guests of the Wards and he cheerfully took over duties of head chef when asked. Thank you Don!

The Cardiff Community Club will resume meetings for the new season at 7:30 p.m. on September 25 at Ethel Ward's home. Anyone from Cardiff and district is welcome to attend to meet the members or to join if they desire.

Members are reminded of the upcoming Sturgeon Handicraft Fair to be held October 28-29 this year. Let's get busy now and have an abundance of arts, crafts, preserves, plants etc. for the Cardiff section at the Fair.

About 10 new families have taken up residence at Cardiff Echoes. Many more will be following in the near future. A hearty welcome to all of them.

School has begun, gardeners are busily trying to finish freezing and canning produce from their beautiful gardens. Harvesting is in full swing (when weather permits) and on September 5 a large flock of Canada Geese were seen heading for the sunny south, can summer be ending so soon?

for all teams will take place on Monday, October 2 at 7 p.m. at the Agriplex. Girls and boys of all ages are welcome.

Coaches and assistant coaches are required for all teams. Anyone interested is asked to contact Walter Hoffman at 459-3229 or Gloria Dahl at 939-2767.

A clinic will be held for coaches levels 1 and 11 on November 3 and 4. To register please phone Walter Hoffman.

Brenda Wright, above, will be teaching the ancient art of belly dancing to women in Morinville this fall.

Belly dancing comes to Morinville

If you want to get yourself in shape for fall and have fun doing it, take up belly dancing. Lebanese dancing is an ancient art and is becoming very popular in Canada and the U.S.A. Classes are attended by ladies from 7 to 76, who like dancing, fun and exercise.

The dance itself consists of 10 basic steps. The hard thing in the beginning is co-ordination of arms and hips and shimmy. Belly dancing exercises also dwell on the stomach area and muscles isolation. Every muscle has to work on its own.

So ladies anyone interested in learning, can join the beginners class to be held in Morinville on Monday nights, starting September 18 for eight weeks. The class will run from 8 - 10 p.m. The fee is $20. Classes will be held in the Historical and Cultural Centre (Convent) (Drama Room). Please use south door. Preregistration is September 18 at 7:30 - 8 before the first class or by phoning Brenda at 939-4751 on Monday or Wednesday during the day or any evening after six. An intermediate class will also be offered, following the beginners class, if enough ladies are interested in continued study of the dance.

Stella Langier urges all of the people of the community to get busy with your home crafts, with the idea of Christmas in mind, as their will be market in the month of November also. This would be a splendid opportunity to make some extra cash before Christmas, and also help others cross some of the names off of their Christmas lists. Please keep this in mind as it almost gives you two months to prepare some extra crafts. And with the weather being as it has it would be a perfect opportunity to get started!

Cadets will be meeting in Gibbons on Tuesday nights. Any boys or girls between the ages of 13 and 19 who would be interested in joining the group or finding out further information are asked to give Julie Saunders a call at 921-3889. These meetings will be held in the Gibbons School.

barley attractive feed grain

(10.3 million), China (9.9 million), and the United States (9.1 million).

About 62 percent of world barley production is fed to animals, with the balance used for human food. In Canada and the U.S., about 10 percent of production is used to make malt, which is mostly used for brewing beer.

As it has no gluten content, barley is not normally used for flour, except in small quantities with wheat flour as an extender. But processed barley is widely used as an extender for rice in some Asian countries, particularly Japan. The Japanese manufacture a product called Seibaku, which is barley that has been hulled, steamed, and pressed into flakes. When cooked, Seibaku is similar to rice in appearance and texture. While most Japanese prefer rice, the extender is popular because barley is much cheaper.

In recent years, barley has been in demand as a health food in Japan. Pearled barley, which has had the hull removed, is also a popular dish in some countries.

Barley normally has to compete in price with corn in the world feed grain market. But as a feed grain, it has a number of advantages over corn, and the price sometimes indicates this. Barley occasionally trades at a premium to corn if it's in short supply, even when corn is plentiful. This is because, in many markets, barley is regarded as a superior feed grain. Beef cattle and swine fed a barley ration produce leaner carcasses with whiter fat than animals fed on corn.

A higher protein and fibre content make barley a more complete ration than corn, which requires more protein supplement in swine, beef cattle, and dairy rations.

Barley's feeding qualities have resulted in strong, consistent import demand in several countries. Last year four major importers accounted for over half of all world barley trade. Leading was West Germany (1.8 million tons), followed by Japan (1.7 million), Belgium (1.2 million), and Italy (1.1 million).

In recent years there have been three significant major barley exporters. Canada is the largest, last year selling 3.8 million tons, which was 34 percent of total trade. Australia followed with 2.1 million and the United States with 1.5 million tons. A number of other small exporters make up the balance of barley trade.

In some years, the European Community (1.8 million tons) has been a significant importer. Please Turn to Page 40

barley

pean Economic Community is a large barley exporter, aided by substantial export subsidies. Last year, the EEC sold only 500,000 tons of barley, but because of last season's good crop, exports are expected to rise to 3.1 million tons this year.

As with other coarse grains, world demand for barley has been increasing and is expected to do so for some time, particularly in Pacific Rim and Asian countries.

Canadian barleys offer a good future export potential, particularly if shipping capacity is increased at the West Coast. Projections indicate that Canada will have to increase production if it is to maintain its share of the expected growth in world grain markets.

Currently, most barleys grown in Western Canada are malting varieties, though only about 10 percent of production is selected for malting. It is argued that barley yields can be increased if breeders ignored some malting characteristics and concentrated more on increased yield only.

Barley is also best suited to the northern areas of the Prairies, where relatively high precipitation offers good possibilities for increasing yields. Development of varieties specifically for this area could result in additional gains.

Bon Accord - Gibbons Air Cadets on Parade

#524 STURGEON AIR CADETS

The squadron's trip to Moncton, N.B., was arranged under the auspices of "Open House Canada" an exchange program run by the Department of the Secretary of State to encourage young people to know their country better. The cadets and their chaperones left Edmonton International Airport on Saturday evening, August 26 for Montreal.

Sunday was spent travelling by bus to Moncton from Montreal. We are impressed by Montreal's bus drivers, whose near-misses made us appreciate their skill. We passed by stone houses, long narrow fields and caught our first view of the St. Lawrence. Mrs. D. Noga provided us with a running commentary on the sights as this was familiar territory to her. All the French people that we met were very friendly and helpful.

A cheer was raised as we crossed the Quebec-N.B. border. At Hartland we saw the world's longest covered bridge.

We arrived in Moncton about 12:30 a.m. Billets were quickly arranged and soon the waiting parents and our cadets went home to a well deserved rest. At least, some did! Others stayed up and talked till nearly dawn!

Monday was to be free for us to rest but many spent the afternoon sightseeing, at the beach, or even driving to Nova Scotia, some 40 miles away. Both squadrons gathered for supper.

In the evening there was more sightseeing and visiting. Some of us toured the control tower of Moncton Airport before going on a short flight over the city.

There was bad news, however, on our return home. One of our cadets, Darlene Lange, had suffered a badly broken ankle, in a car accident.

Tuesday we toured the Acadia Museum at the Université de Moncton, where guides explained the history of the early French settlers in the area. Father Roland Soucie gave us a short talk on the various university faculties and the French language programs available to English speaking students.

After this we visited the Free Meeting House, the oldest building in Moncton, and the first home of nearly every church group in the city. Alex Pincombe, director of the Moncton Museum, told us about the early days of the city and afterwards we toured the museum, where a complete circus in miniature is displayed on the main floor while upstairs, with the usual memorabilia, are many reminders that Moncton was once a port city.

Then cadets had a bus trip to "The Rocks" at Hopewell to see the strange rock formations and caves sculpted by the tides.

Wednesday a ferry trip began our visit to Prince Edward Island. After lunch, in Charlottetown, we went to the "Centre of the Arts" where we enjoyed the musical "Anne of Green Gables."

A short walk then brought us to Province House, seat of the P.E.I. legislature, and wherein is found Confederation Chamber, birthplace of our Canadian nation, where the Fathers of Confederation met in 1864.

A drive past picturesque houses and neat farms brought us to Stanhope Beach and swim time. After a late supper and drive back across the Island, we caught the larger ferry "Abegweit" for the trip home to Moncton.

Thursday the Moncton hospital is most co-operative, letting us visit Darlene at any time our tour schedule permitted, early morning or late evening.

This afternoon we toured Paturel's Fish Plant at Cap Bimet, where we saw lobster being processed, then afterwards we went to a beach house at Petit Cap for a swim and a lobster supper. Later that evening, at the cadet dance, a plaque was presented to #101 squadron to commemorate our visit, and other gifts presented to those squadron people in Moncton who had helped make our visit so pleasant.

Friday after a two-hour drive, we saw the famous Reversing Falls in St. John, where the water moves upstream. We had our lunch there, at an almost perpendicular picnic site on the river bank. The afternoon was spent at the Atlantic National Exhibition where cadets sampled all the usual fair attractions. (Does Mrs. H. really like blue cotton candy?)

This writer was impressed by the displays of roses, aquariums, quilts, afghans and pottery, and by the various craftspeople demonstrating their expertise.

On our return to Moncton we find Darlene has been released from hospital and will be able to make the return trip with us.

Saturday was free for last minute shopping, packing and sightseeing. At 6:30 p.m. we all met at the #101 drill hall, where their band played, and the girls drill team demonstrated some of their routines. There were many good wishes expressed as we bade them a fond, and somewhat tear-filled, farewell and boarded our bus for the first part of our trip home.

Sunday at 5:30 a.m. we arrived at CFB Longue Pointe in Montreal where beds, breakfast, beds and lunch (in that order) were provided for us, a welcome gratefully accepted by weary cadets.

In the afternoon, in spite of wind and rain, our tour of Montreal proved interesting as we went to the top of Mount Royal, visited the beautiful church of Notre Dame, saw cobblestone streets, the Olympic games site and other points of interest before going to Dorval Airport for the flight home.

A warm welcome awaited us at the International Airport after which cadets counted off for the last time. All were present, all baggage claimed and so the tired travellers could leave for home and (if they could stop talking!) bed.

Tax break on mortgages?

From the Globe & Mail
High house prices and the current lull in demand for new housing have prompted some groups to renew their push to make mortgage payments deductible from income taxes.

"We are planning to push pretty hard for this," said James McCambly, executive secretary of the Canadian chapter of the Building and Construction Trades Department, which represents 15 unions and 400,000 Canadian workmen in the building trades.

The membership has asked that the federal Government effectively lower the interest rate on mortgages to six percent by making the payments on the difference between six percent and the current rate deductible from taxable income.

He said the carrying cost of mortgages has helped raise the cost of living for the Canadian worker. This has created higher wage demands and is "a real cause of inflation."

Leonard Rosenberg, president of Greymac Mortgage Corp. of Toronto, called for the federal Government to "show economic initiative" and use the interest rate deduction to lower the carrying costs and rekindle demand for houses.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. statistics indicated that there were 8,643 single and semi-detached houses completed and unoccupied in 23 metropolitan areas at the end of July. This compared with 7,517 units over the corresponding period a year earlier.

Similarly, there were 16,922 unoccupied apartments and row houses, compared with 12,881 a year earlier.

However, others expressed reservations about the scheme.

One bank official thinks the interest deduction would be unfair to those who rent and benefit mainly the rich: "I have never been able to convince myself that the poor guy who does not have much income and is struggling to keep his head above water will get much."

MLS sales value increases

The dollar value of real estate sales in the first six months of 1978 made through multiple listing services rose 10.7 percent from the corresponding year-earlier period.

In spite of the sales rise, the large number of listings indicates a slow market over all, with the strongest performance coming from Quebec, according to a survey by the Canadian Real Estate Association.

MLS

The association has 45,000 members and is organized into 98 member boards who use the MLS service. Resale residential property is the system's mainstay.

There were 85,253 sales

worth $4.7-billion in Canada, compared with 80,819 worth $4.3-billion in the first six months of 1977.

The average property price rose to $56,186, a 4.5 percent increase. The association said this rise is much lower than the jump in the cost of living over the same period.

The national sales-to-listings ratio was 32.7 percent for the six months, only slightly above the 32.6 percent ratio in the similar 1977 period. The only time a full year ratio has dipped below this level was in 1963.

Thus, while sales are increasing, more properties are also being put on sale.

Alberta boards had 11,255

sales for $833-million, compared with 10,565 worth $701 million. The sales-to-listings ratio was the highest of the provinces at 41.9 percent. The average property price rose to $74,004, an 11.5 percent increase from the corresponding period a year earlier.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annswell

SEPTEMBER 14 - SEPTEMBER 20

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19
Family problems on Thursday-Friday - and they won't solve themselves. Group activities featured on weekend, solo outings on Monday-Tuesday. Simplify your life now - less is more!

PISCES - February 20 - March 20
Creative work can prove satisfying and financially rewarding. Resist leanings toward secrecy - make your life more open book. Scorpios and Geminis count on you for solace.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20
Folks around you get up on the grouchy side these mornings. Grin, bear it, grin some more. Luck's with you from Saturday on; perception's sharp, too.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22
This week you're a magician who mends relationships. Don't succumb to restless spending. Lots of rest needed, plus a new kind of recreation. Yoga? Meditation?

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21
New hobby can hook you, but don't avoid priorities - like earning a living. Check motives of acquaintances volunteering for this, that, and everything. Weekend can include reunions.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22
An up week. Shaky relationships are becoming steady, and there are lots of tiny pleasures providing great joys. Check your facts Monday - credibility can be challenged.

LEO - July 23 - August 22
It's tempting - but avoid giving unsolicited advice. Cash and challenges can arrive from surprise sources. Evenings prove much more cultural than romantic.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22
Week has feel of a game - your move, partner's move. Everything follows a plan. Watch what you're discarding - it may not be junk, it may not be yours.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22
Fashion is emphasized and week finds you a trendsetter. Try bolder styles. A bothersome obligation can be settled quickly on the weekend. Don't skip check-ups.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21
Lovely business week - good opportunities, good decisions. But also a week of buck-passing where family matters go - and the buck can wind up in your hands.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22
Fall is in the air, but the season has a spring feel: a friendship is budding, ideas are perking. You play an important supporting role Monday - Wednesday.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20
Work methodically and you'll gain new prestige. Week favors spectator activities. Romance is still on the upswing. Try not to remain housebound over the weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You've earned a reputation as being super analytical and super critical. Act more from the heart - and the year can prove super fun. Relationships grow, and some excellent travel is indicated.

BORN THIS WEEK
September 14th, author Eric Bentley; 15th, actor Jackie Cooper; 16th, actor Peter Falk; 17th, actress Anne Bancroft; 18th, author Samuel Johnson; 19th, baseball great Duke Snyder; 20th, actress Sophia Loren.

Will teach piano, beginners to Grade four. Phone 459-7819. 37/c2

SUBSCRIBERS !!

The distribution of our newspaper is handled in three ways: on new-stands, through the mail, and by our team of carriers.

The vast majority of our readers prefer receiving the Gazette from our carriers, and it is their job to ensure that you get the Gazette as early as possible every Wednesday, whatever the weather.

Lately, the most difficult part of the carriers job has been collecting from customers. People, now are more on the go, and therefore more difficult to catch at home.

We shouldn't overlook the problems caused by holidays and moving. It is difficult to remember money owed to a carrier.

For greater convenience to all, we are hoping that our readers will take this opportunity to subscribe to the Gazette on a yearly basis.

You won't have to worry about having change on hand, or the carrier bothering you at inopportune moments. The carrier will save time working his or her route, therefore affording them more time with their friends, family and personal activities. The carrier will still receive full creditation for the delivery (.07¢ per paper delivered). If you are moving or taking holidays, just give us a call, and the necessary adjustments will be made(subscription extension, transfer, etc.).

If you move away, you can keep up on local news through the mail by having your paper follow you to your new address.

Simply fill in the coupon below and mail it to the Gazette, or drop by our office at 31 Perron Street.

Thank You
From all of us at the Gazette.
